B52 Attacks on DMZ Stifling Red Shellings

Pressure On Marines Is Eased

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command claimed today that B52 bombers have inflicted crippling damage in raids on the demilitarized zone, where North Vietnamese artillerymen now are bombarding U.S. Marines at Con Thien with more words than shells. Headquarters said that seven B52 raids in four days last week touched off 110 secondary explosions, indicating successful bomb hits on ammunition stores and fuel.

The raids, aimed at easing the enemy pressure on the Con Thien Marine base, ignited nine fires, headquarters said.

At the same time, the U.S. Command said the North Vietnamese unloaded mortar shells with propaganda leaflets three times on Con Thien last week. One leaflet said: "Hey, hey, LBJ...how many kids have you killed today?" A second said: "Americans—stop bombing innocent women and children. Leave Vietnam to the Vietnamese."

The Communist propaganda attack came after U.S. planes dropped thousands of leaflets on the North Vietnamese side of the border last week, urging civilians to defect to the South to escape the devastation of B52 bombing.

The B52s were up again today attacking suspected Red positions in North Vietnam, 11 miles northwest of Con Thien and in the demilitarized zone four miles north of the Marine outpost.

U. S. Drops Leaflets
Con Thien and nearby Marine posts guarding South Vietnam's northern border received only one round of explosive artillery and two mortar rounds Sunday, U.S. headquarters said.

Since last Wednesday, the Marines at Con Thien have been receiving light, harassing bombardments in contrast to the 500 to 1,000-shell barrages they were taking daily in the preceding weeks.

Elsewhere, there was little

Enemy All Around Con Thien

CON THIEN, Vietnam (AP) — This shell-battered outpost held by U.S. Marines is becoming a symbol of the new war in the northern region of South Vietnam, a war whose pace and tactics have been determined by North Vietnamese Communists.

For U.S. Marines at Con Thien it looks like a grim fall and winter in the five northern provinces that make up Vietnam's 1st Corps. They see little—militarily, geographically or climatically—to relieve the somber picture that follows what one senior American official called "a pretty unpleasant summer" in the corps area.

As inhabitants of the three red-mud hills of Con Thien, the forward-most allied strongpoint in Vietnam, the Marines can be expected to hold a sour view of the situation. The primitive outpost guarding possible invasion routes into South Vietnam has become the lightning rod of the war, attracting savage bombardments from the hidden guns in the enemy sanctuary in North Vietnam across the Ben Hai River border.

Hazardous Entry

The monsoon rains are beginning to drum in, clogging fox-holes with mud and making helicopter flights—the only way in—hazardous.

Because it nudges North Vietnam, Con Thien is the easiest target in the country for the northern Communists. They send sappers in nightly to probe the barbed wire defenses. Snipers are active at all times. The Marines say they are not surrounded, but there is no doubt that the enemy is all around.

Senior Marines make little attempt to hide their fear that the necessity of repelling enemy thrusts at the demilitarized zone will destroy the whole concept devised to fight the Communists elsewhere in the large 1st Corps region, a concept determined in more than two years of U.S. Marine commitment to the war.

Already, Marine officers say, painstakingly acquired advances in key corps areas have been eroded because of the need to meet Communist pressure at the DMZ.

Marines say Communist reasoning is obvious "In the broadest sense, the enemy purpose is to draw U.S. forces away from the main thrust of the war—destruction of the Communist guerrilla infrastructure, and road and village security," a senior Marine explained.

"In this, he has succeeded. Midsummer last year we had

Victory Margin Cut

Thieu's Election Win Accepted by Assembly

SAIGON (AP) — The Constituent Assembly of South Vietnam accepted today the legality of the Sept. 3 presidential election and confirmed the victory of Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, who will begin his four-year term next month.

In a secret ballot which began barely an hour before the midnight deadline imposed by the election law, the assembly voted to accept the results, which gave Thieu a decisive plurality over 10 civilian candidates.

Although the final vote was not immediately available, the majority necessary for Thieu's confirmation was obtained before the voting was completed. During the day's debate the assembly accepted six criteria by which the 4.7 million voters cast were to be considered valid. When the criteria were applied to the Sept. 3 election results, Thieu came out with an even bigger winning margin than before.

Boston Happy After It Wins Baseball Flag

BOSTON (AP) — Firecrackers flashed across Kenmore Square, strangers shook hands and some kissed, and Red Sox fans surged through city streets to celebrate the team's first American League pennant since 1916.

A crowd of about 4,000 began gathering in the square, near the Sox' Fenway Park home, Sunday night shortly after the team defeated Minnesota 5-3 to clinch at least a tie for the pennant.

When word came that California had defeated Detroit 8-5 in the second game of a double-header to eliminate the possibility of a playoff, the frustrations of 21 years were loosed as fans began a revelry that continued into the early hours of today.

The crowd halted traffic in the square and surrounding area.

Boston mounted police were helpless and two raised their fingers in a V-for-victory salute. The crowd clapped and chanted, "We're No. 1! We're No. 1!"

The next adventure for followers of the Red Sox will be the World Series, opening Wednesday at Fenway Park against the St. Louis Cardinals, who defeated the Red Sox in the 1946 series.

There Was Fraternization after the game, although the contest itself presented dedicated fans. Chatting at the after-game party are Jan Johnson, East, and Mark Dillingham, West. Below, part of the crowd that enjoyed the music is shown.

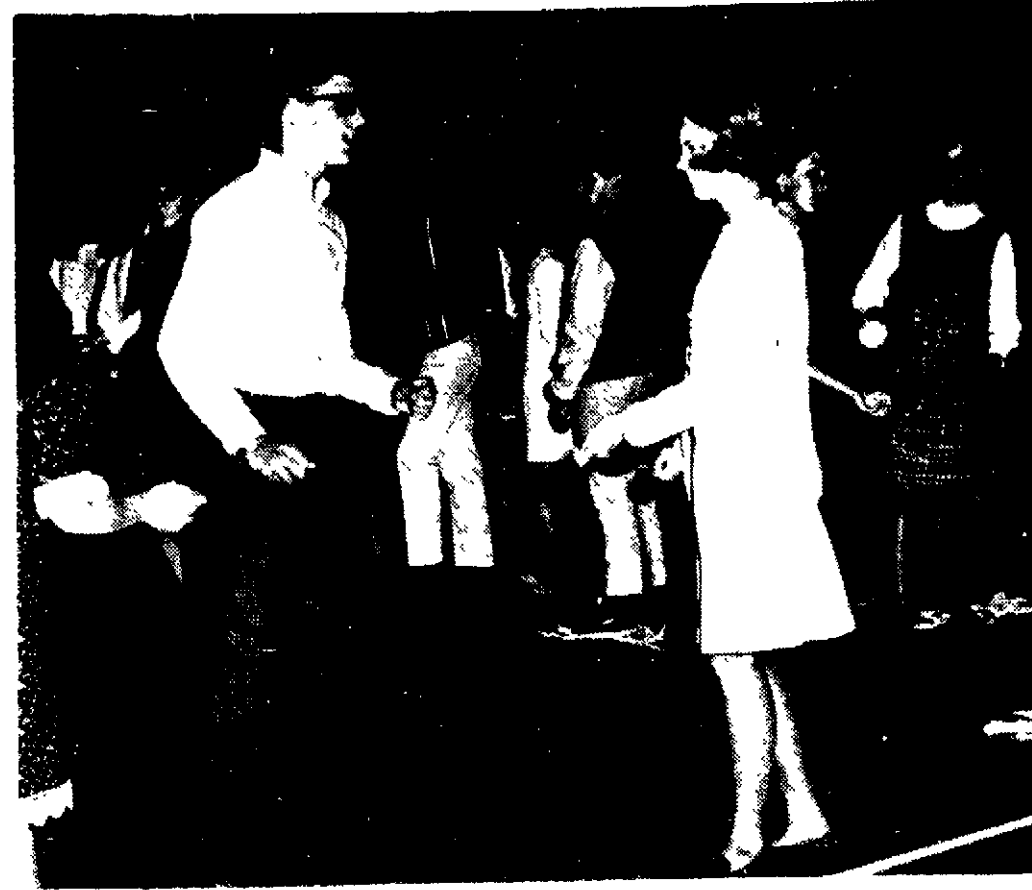

It wasn't meant to be a victory celebration, however the game went. But after the first meeting of Appleton High School-East and AHS-West on the football field, it seemed only right to play a 'Fifth Quarter'.

The dance at AHS-West was planned by the student council at that school for students at both high schools, separated for the first time this year.

The party took place from 8 to 11:30 p.m., with Patriots invited as guests of the Terrors, who, incidentally, lost the initial grid meeting with their new rivals.

Mary Starek, Above Right, took tickets as students arrived for the Fifth Quarter dance at Appleton High School-West Saturday evening. Arriving are Sheryl Sommers of West and Tom Fischer, East.

Miss Burns is a charming, enthusiastic young woman who terms herself "sort of a girl Friday around General Electric." She spends every other week traveling around the nation and alternate weeks at GE's lighting institute, Nela Park, in Cleveland, Ohio.

Before her visit to Appleton, Miss Burns studied principles of the Lucalox street lighting that she helped dedicate. She ex-

One of the thrills of the job, Miss Burns explains, is the numerous chances to meet interesting and different people. In Hawaii Miss Burns was interviewed by a Japanese language newspaper in which the story appeared entirely in Japanese except for her name.

Miss Burns calls her job "not the most secure in the world" but is unsure of her plans for the future. Her contract with GE expires in January and Miss Burns would like to explore the possibilities of television work.

"Oops, I Almost Had It," says Dana More, a participant in the bottle pick-up game at the Saturday carnival. The event was sponsored by the high school's student council.

It was Carnival time from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Wednesday at the Fox Valley Lutheran High School gymnasium.

The purpose of the social occasion, the first one of the year at the school, was to acquaint freshmen with upper classmen and to renew old friendships.

The students divided into 20 teams, each named after a National or American Football team. Each group then tried its luck at a series of different games of skill, such as transferring a lifesaver from one toothpick to another. Teams rotated to a different game every five minutes.

The event was sponsored by the student council. Chairman Douglas Potter was assisted by Ron Rahn, Bruce Jentz and Edie Mattek. Group advisors are Lynn Sakenheim and Mrs. Alfred Zellmer.

"It Isn't as Easy as It Looks," is repeated many times Wednesday evening at Fox Valley Lutheran High School's carnival. Students participated in a variety of games at the event. Opponent Must Feel Pressure

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Even among experts, some opponents are easier than others to play against. The soft opponents bid comfortably; the tough guys get the bidding up uncomfortably high.

At the first table of a recent team match South had no trouble making four hearts. West took the ace of diamonds and led a diamond to the king. South gave up a trick to the ace of trumps and later lost a club finesse to the king. South scored 420 points for his nonvulnerable game.

North grumbled that he could have collected 800 points against two spades doubled, but South was unimpressed. "I'd bid it again," he insisted.

At the other table of the match the South player had the same feeling against passing a low double, but he made sure the situation wouldn't arise. At his second turn South jumped to four hearts instead of bidding a lame two clubs.

Feels Pressure

West felt the pressure. If East had as little as the king of diamonds and another diamond to the king. South continued hearts, and when dummy (West) ruffed the third heart, North discarded a club. Declarer gave up a diamond to the queen, and North led out three rounds of spades.

Declarer managed to win this in the east hand with the eight of spades in order to lead a club, but it didn't help. South took the ace of clubs and led a third heart because she couldn't even heart so that North could get rid of his last club while East ruffed. North took the last two tricks, for a penalty of 1,400 points. It pays to be tough!

Husband's Economical Habit Annoying, Dangerous to Others

BY ANN LANDERS

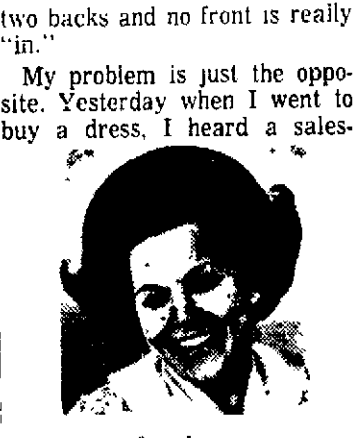

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband has a rule that if the TV is on no other light should be burning in the house. Paul's favorite expression is, "Don't waste the juice, Marie."

I don't leave lights burning all over the place, but I do like to have a light on when I am sitting in a room. Paul even hates to turn on the porch lights when we are expecting guests. Last week when my mother was leaving our place he turned off the porch light before she got to the bottom of the stairs and she nearly fell.

Paul makes $160 a week and we are not hard up for money. He thinks nothing of spending $15 a week for beer but if I want to sew or read at night he gets mad because it is cheaper to do it in the daytime. Any comment? — Blacked Out

DEAR OUT: This is not an unusual peculiarity. The woman at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington has the same problem — and her husband makes $100,000 a year. The next time Paul complains, hand him 2 cents. That's what it costs to burn a 100-watt bulb for seven hours.

DEAR ANN: Several weeks ago you printed a letter from "Flat Florence" who was miserable because she couldn't even fill out a 32 bra. I'll bet she and all the other Flat Florences are ruffed North took the last two in seventh heaven now that these crazy Twiggy-type styles have hit the scene. The girl with

Landers

My problem is just the opposite. Yesterday when I went to buy a dress, I heard a saleswoman say, "Good grief, here comes good old D-Cup!" You have no idea how this hurts. The girls with too little are much better off than the ones with too much. A padded bra can solve their problem, but there is no solution for us. My shoulders ache from the wide, tight straps I must wear to support the super-structure. Sweaters and knits are out. Tent-type dresses which are so smart on slim girls make me look like an elephant.

So please tell Flat Florence and her underendowed sisters that they are in luck at last. Shed a tear now for — The Bosomy Belles

DEAR BELLES: Turn off the waterworks. Sister, you're wasting the natural resources. I took a poll in this office and 12 out of 14 girls said they'd rather have your problem than Florence's.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from "Disenchanted" was a good one. I am also a widow and have run into the same situation she described. "Disenchanted" failed to mention, however, one of the primary reasons respectable widows can't get a man. Listen to this:

Last year I was asked out by three of the town's most eligible bachelors. One was an attorney, another was a professor and the third an eye specialist. I soon discovered that I was being used as a decoy to confuse the public. Each of these men had a sizzling relationship going with a so-called respectable married gal. As one Lothario put it, "Why buy a cow when milk is so cheap?" — Only a Cover

DEAR ONLY: Why do you consider these men eligible? They are not interested in marriage. Dating such characters would be a waste of your time.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Correction

In a Thursday Post-Crescent story about Benefit Circle of The King's Daughters hearing representatives of FISH, the new group was said to provide emergency counseling services. The group, a volunteer organization whose members assist during the day and many a 24-hour basis, does not do "all-counseling. Among emergency services offered are babysitting, housework, transportation and calls. The Fish member contacted when needed refers the person to someone who needs counseling agency.

Bugs, Rodents More Deadly Than All of History's Wars

Household pests have caused more deaths than all the wars in history, according to the world's largest pest control firm. In terms of dollars and cents, these incredibly strong and adaptable creatures are responsible for losses running into billions of dollars annually. There are approximately one million insect species known to science, and possibly several times that many are yet to be identified. Another startling statistic reveals that there are as many insects in a given square mile on earth as there are humans in the world. Experts say that a pair of ordinary house flies, if given perfect breeding conditions, could blanket the earth three feet deep in a few months.

Sanitary Rules

Some of the more common pests can be avoided by following simple sanitary rules and being careful to avoid conditions which draw them to homes and apartments. These common intruders include roaches, fleas, ticks, rats and mice, mosquitoes and many varieties of ants, termites and moths. All are disease carriers and may be found in homes where they are seeking the food, shelter and temperature they require for survival.

Each of these pests has its own characteristic structure. Some sting, bite or contaminate food. Others cause severe property damage. Some safeguards against invasion of pests are: Check all grocery bags after shopping. Food markets can be ideal breeding grounds for pests. Secure Moldings Make certain all molding around floors and ceilings is secure. Bathe Rover regularly and keep him clean. Avoid leaky pipes under sinks; repair them as soon as possible. Keep food tightly sealed in kitchen cabinets. If sugar, flour or any food crumbs are spilled,

Color Scheming Can Add Flair To Home Design

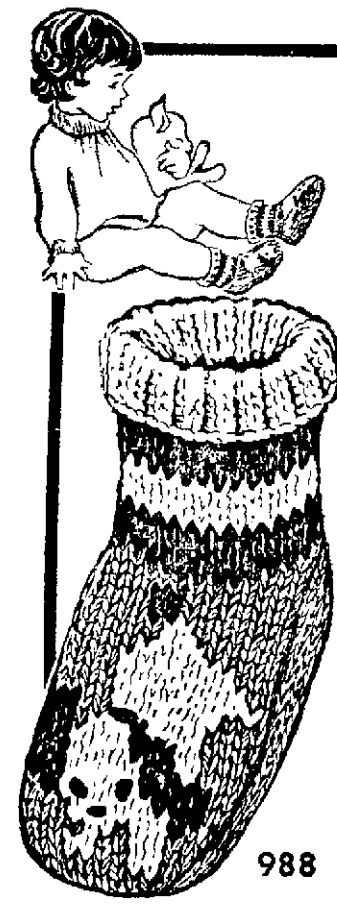

Don't shy away from color in your home. Use it! Be scheming!

Color can be dramatic or serene. It can make your home seem bright and cheery, informal or formal, classic or contemporary. Light colors will make a room seem larger, warm or dark colors, smaller. Use of different colors on the walls of a room can make a square room rectangular or shorten a long narrow room.

Color, however, should not be used indiscriminately. In decorating your home, your use of color should be blended into a total color scheme. A scheme usually includes three or four basic colors — compatible colors, for example, like blue, green and white or green, yellow and gray. Occasionally a carefully selected accent color can be added to your basic group to provide contrast.

Surfacing Materials Often it is best to use the most neutral of your group for walls, floors and ceilings. Surfacing materials now come in so many colors and hues that your choice is unlimited. A material like ceramic tile, which for years seemed limited to typical bathroom white, now comes in more than 1,000 color combinations and new installation methods make possible its use throughout the house.

In choosing a color scheme pay attention to the light in the room during both day and night. Lighting should be arranged to complement and enhance the color scheme not to distort or wash it out.

Frenchwoman Threatens Resignation as Mother

PARIS (AP) — A mother of 12 children has written to Mrs. Charles de Gaulle threatening to "resign" and turn her children over to the state if the government doesn't give her more help. With a long bill of complaint, Mrs. Andre Rougier said that if her requests are not met by Oct. 21, "it means you have accepted my resignation."

"You can then come and get the children and assume responsibility for them. I will register at the employment office in my town."

A copy of the letter was published today by France-Soir. A spokesman at the presidential palace said he was unable to confirm whether Mrs. De Gaulle had received the letter. "It would have come as personal mail and no one except madame reads that," he said.

Mrs. Rougier, whose husband is a $250-a-month lathe operator, old a France-Soir reporter: "We are at the end of our rope."

She, her husband and the children, ranging in age from 3 1/2 to 7 years, live in a four-room apartment in a public housing development with no playground. The children are forced to play in a street where there have been three accidents in the last two weeks, the letter said.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Coloring Hair

A Lovely writes: I'd like some advice about hair coloring shades and methods. My skin is fair, my eyes are blue and my hair, once golden, is now a dark, muddy blond. Would a pale blond or a brunet tint be the more flattering? And what home process is apt to produce completely natural-looking color?

The Answer: Having fair skin and blue eyes, you are fortunate. You can go lighter or darker and still appear born to type. It's women with olive complexions who must be cautious in the choice of hair color; many blond shades and red shades, too, do worse than nothing for them.

For home users, shampoo tints are the least troublesome to apply. Up-to-the-minute kits contain all the necessities for successful coloring — exact amount of color and creme developer in an applicator, reusable plastic gloves and a tube of conditioner.

The color mixture is applied to dry hair, lathered through and after a brief ten-minute setting and time, rinsed away. That's all there is to it. Yet the finish recreates the gentle work of straightening and grooming, nature — the innocent color and soft texture possessed by the very young.

It is predicted that the world of tomorrow hair color will be controlled by internal dosages. Pills perhaps! Shampoo easy and color-quiet methods, meanwhile, are the next best thing. So uncomplicated!

Overcome your hair problems! Send for my booklet, How to Have Lovelier Hair. Advice includes: corrective care of dry, abused, oily and hard-to-manage hair; expert coloring methods and treatment of tinted hair; time, rinsed away. That's all there is to it. Yet the finish recreates the gentle work of straightening and grooming, nature — the innocent color and soft texture possessed by the very young.

Write to Mary Sue Miller in care of The Post-Crescent for your copy, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin. (Copyright, 1967)

Use Herbs With Restraint To Complement Tastes

Herbs, used with restraint, can complement many food tastes. Generally one-fourth teaspoon — a pinch — of dried herbs for each four servings is about right.

Be selective in adding herbs to particular food. Unless you are using a tested recipe, one herb will probably be enough to mark up a dish with distinctive flavor.

Add herbs to cooked foods such as stews, soups and sauces during the last hour of cooking. Uncooked foods such as salad dressing, fruits and juices may need more time for flavors to end. Add herbs as long as possible before serving to these dishes.

Nice Houseplants

Herbs make nice houseplants any sunny window. A few plants of several kinds of herbs will serve the needs of the average family. Next spring they can be planted outdoors.

When harvesting sweet basil, marjoram, rosemary, saffron, thyme, sage, or summer savory cut when starting to flower. Hang the plants for drying in a warm, dry dark room. Brush flowering tops and pack in closed containers.

Harvest anise, lavender, caraway, chervil and coriander on a dry summer day after seeds develop. Place seed heads on frames of stretched cheesecloth or netting for air circulation. Place in cool shed or room. When dry, remove seeds from stems and seal in bottles.

For more information on how to grow, harvest and use herbs you may contact the county home economics agent for a circular titled, "Herbs," or write Agricultural Bulletin Room, Madison, 53706.

Shape Young Lips

The smart young beauty pays more than lip service to her lips. Because young lips are gifted by nature with attractive color, lip gloss may be all that is needed. If lip stick is used the muted shades are becoming. The lip line should not be exaggerated. If lips are thin, the stick or brush should extend the outline ever so slightly. If too full, the lips can be made to seem thinner by applying the color just inside the outline. Before dry by itself, then apply lipstick making up for that stadium date-or gloss.

Live Within Your Income

Loan Upon Loan Creates Unhealthy Financial Situation

BY MARY FEELEY

How recently have you said to yourself, "Oh well, I can probably get another loan if I have to." That's a comforting thought, but perhaps it should be taken as a warning that you already have one loan too many.

The family that gets in the habit of borrowing money to pay the bills is inching too close to the edge of the cliff.

The saddest cases are those families who slowly take on more of a financial loan than they can carry. Eventually their credit rating goes by the board and life becomes a depressing business of taking one step forward only to slide three steps back.

Checking your own credit situation is a healthy practice. And for most families, this is a logical time to do so — after vacation expenditures, and before Christmas shopping makes new demands.

If you're wondering whether you may be stretching your credit too thin, answer these few basic questions:

How much back-up cash, in money or bonds, could you put your hands on in an emergency? Could you handle the month's rent or mortgage payment, food bill, utilities, car payment?

How much of your current indebtedness could you clean up in, say, six months, if you lost your job? Could you maintain your creditors' confidences while you're looking for another position — enough to show your earnest concern for your credit rating?

Are you continually building up some form of equity, through home mortgage payments, insurance premiums or savings? Count, send $1 to her in care of Does the equity outlay total as much as 15 per cent of your net income?

Salvage Your Credit Rating

Don't wait until you really find yourself in hot water. If this month's payments were even later than last month's, and next month's look still less certain, try to salvage your credit rating while you can.

First, study your budget, economizing everywhere you can. Often a lot of little economies will accomplish as much as one big painful slash.

If you suspect your good name may be suffering because of slow payments, go and talk to your creditors and tell them what efforts you're making to get your payments on an even keel. If the situation indicates that you really would be wise to take out one loan to clear up various debts — even if it's "another" loan — talk with the lender about rewriting the loan you already have. Banks, for example, may allow a grace period of several months. Or they may extend an existing loan, reducing each month's payments.

Resist the temptation to borrow a little money from one source and a little more from another. The man who runs all around town to borrow generally earns a questionable credit reputation.

When you get your affairs under control, steer clear of large installment purchases, and personal loans for anything other than dire necessities. Remember, your credit rating needs a period of relaxation and "fattening up," so to speak, after a siege of the shakes.

Are you continually building up some form of equity, through home mortgage payments, insurance premiums or savings? Count, send $1 to her in care of Does the equity outlay total as much as 15 per cent of your net income?

(For a copy of Mary Feeley's home mortgage payments, insurance premiums or savings? Count, send $1 to her in care of Does the equity outlay total as much as 15 per cent of your net income?)

Action Delayed On Ambulance Ordinance

Appleton Operator Asks Committee For Extension

The city council's public-safety committee has again put off action on an ordinance regulating private ambulance services in Appleton.

It was proposed several months ago but has been kept in committee because the operator of a local service was unable to attend hearings on the proposed municipal legislation.

Ald. John Ayers (12th), committee chairman, announced at the last meeting of the group that it would definitely take up the proposed draft on Oct. 12.

The latest delay came about when an attorney, representing the operator of Larry's Ambulance Service, requested a 30-day extension for his client, who has objections to the proposed ordinance.

Previous requests for postponements by Larry Seidl, operator of the ambulance firm, had been honored by the committee.

"I don't particularly appreciate the fact that he (Seidl) has retained legal counsel, especially when he had every opportunity to come in and discuss the proposed ordinance with the committee," Ayers commented.

Ayers, who has pushed for ambulance control legislation, believes the ordinance has merit. "It should do no harm to any of our ambulance service operations; it should help them," Ayers says.

Seek Cat That Bit Boy

If a large, orange-colored cat is not found soon, a seven-year-old Appleton boy will have to undergo a series of rabies shots.

Police said that Kevin Besaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Besaw, 1221 S. Walden Ave., was bitten on the right hand Sunday by a cat he and other boys found while playing in the woods just west of Appleton High School-East. The bite punctured the boy's skin, his father said.

Police and citizens, including the boy's father, found the cat Sunday afternoon but were unsuccessful in attempts to catch it. A search party combed the area unsuccessfully again this morning.

The boy's shots will have to start this afternoon if the animal is not found, according to the father. Anyone with helpful information is asked to call the police station or the Besaws.

Kaukauna Home Damaged by Fire

KAUKAUNA — A short in an electric range was believed to have caused a fire resulting in considerable damage to a kitchen at the home of Harold Mischler, 701 W. Eighth St., about 7:20 p.m. Saturday.

According to firemen, the outlet behind the stove burned and the fire worked between the kitchen walls, forcing firemen to tear out a portion of the wall to extinguish the blaze.

Woman, 67, Collapses, Dies After Saturday Visit With a Friend

Miss Hedwig Kopsel, 67, 1023 1/2 W. Commercial St., Appleton, collapsed and died about 9 p.m. Saturday shortly after returning home after visiting a friend.

She complained of not feeling well to Mrs. Frances Lillage, with whom she lived.

The fire department rescue squad was called and administered oxygen.

Death was due to an acute heart attack, according to Bernard Kemps, Outagamie County coroner.

The body was released to Wichmann Funeral Home, where arrangements are pending.

Full-Time Aldermen?

City Officials' Pay Pondered

Are Appleton's municipal officials — elective and appointive — underpaid or overpaid?

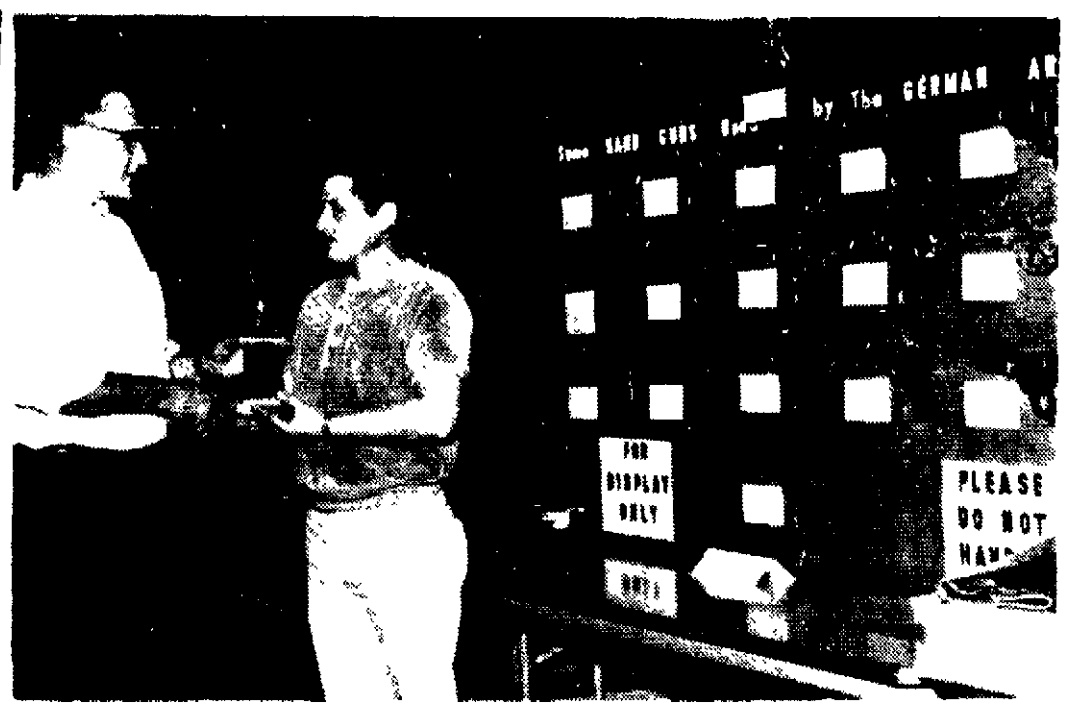

The question was to be pondered this afternoon by a panel of city officials and Mayor George Buckley at the city hall.

Personnel Director Jerome Rusch, who is reviewing salary requests for 1968, asked the mayor to arrange the meeting of chairmen of various city council standing committees.

Aldermen presently receive $1,200 a year ($100 monthly) for their part-time positions, serving two-year terms. They are among the better paid part-time officials on the basis of a recent survey of cities of comparable and larger size.

Aldermen, who seldom go out of the city on municipal business, are entitled to $25 a day, plus mileage for trips.

The council has 20 members,

Clem H. Van Zeeland, 1204 N. Madison St., Little Chute, who has been collecting handguns since 1958, came up with a winner Sunday at the Fox Valley Muzzle Loaders semi-annual state gun show at Sabre Lanes. He was awarded the best in show trophy for his mounted display of World War II German handguns. He has 21 of the handguns in all, including German weapons, and 70 British and Japanese collections. Van Zeeland, right, receives his trophy from Joe Phelps, Appleton, awards chairman for the show. At right Todd Snow, 707 E. Plan Commission Sidesteps Rezoning for Store Addition

Advices Board of Appeals Action; Residents Fear Industry Will Build

The Appleton Plan Commission would be carried out, and that position today took a hands-off "15 to 20 years from now no one would be building a factory."

Charles Magnette, director of inspections, said a technically was involved and that was the reason for him suggesting Johnson get the property rezoned.

Otherwise, Magnette explained, the firm would have to appeals to obtain a variance for each retail outlet added to the existing building.

More Suitable But the plan commission and residents felt this would be more suitable — obtaining variances — rather than changing the zoning, Johnson said it would be acceptable to him as long as the investors who will pay for the additions wouldn't mind.

While Hoolihan was emphatically against the proposed building addition, the residents appearing at the hearing indicated they had no objection to the proposed additions.

Hoolihan at one point said he personally had "a lot of troubles with the store" since becoming an alderman.

However, Johnson reminded the alderman the management always cooperated with city officials whenever anything was brought to their attention.

But Hoolihan and Ald. James Bethke (9th) said they had a bad experience with a previous rezoning in the Colony Oaks subdivision and were suspicious of any announced plans when rezoning was involved.

They did not say what the trouble was in Colony Oaks.

The commission suggested Johnson withdraw the rezoning request and appear before the appeals board.

Women, Ill in Church; Taken to Hospital Mrs. Mary Kettner, 51, 137 Ramble Court, was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital by the Appleton Fire Department rescue squad after she became ill at Sacred Heart Catholic Church about 10:20 a.m. Sunday.

The woman complained of difficulty breathing and pains in her arm.

Police said they ran tests on a portion of a cigarette allegedly obtained from the Appleton woman.

At that time that she wanted to consult an attorney. Detectives were called into the case when the woman allegedly approached a 21-year-old woman patron at the tavern Friday night and inquired about the purchase of marijuana. The conversation allegedly took place in a restroom at the tavern and another meeting was set for the following evening (Saturday).

Police said they ran tests on a portion of a cigarette allegedly obtained from the Appleton woman.

Fulltime Aldermen Several city officials have suggested that the alderman's job could well be full time, and that some members of the council were putting in considerable time.

Mayor George Buckley is receiving $15,000 a year as the city's chief executive. April 15, 1968, the mayor's term of office will be increased from two to four years. However as it now stands the salary will remain the same unless a revision is recommended today.

Buckley is the city's second highest paid official. Supt. of Schools William Spears presently gets $18,500 a year, plus a travel account, and will have his base salary boosted to $20,700 Aug. 1, 1968, under terms of the pending board of education budget request.

The public schools' business director receives $13,500, the raised to $14,800 next August. There are also some principals in the $13,500 to $14,500 bracket. Salaries of other elected city officials include Clerk Elden Broehm, $9,100; Treasurer Ray Feuerstein, $9,100; Assessor John Pierre, $10,600; and City Attorney David Geenen, $13,000.

Public Works Director Frank Keuler gets $12,600, while Finance Director Henry Schrevel draws $11,340; City Planner and Traffic Engineer Walter Rasmussen, $11,220; and Rusch, $8,820.

Appleton Man Creates Ruckus After Arrest

Battles Police; Hospitalized After Jail Cell Incident

Arrested following a disturbance and a fight with police at his home, a 33-year-old Appleton man minutes later attempted to hang himself in a cell in the city jail.

Police said the man, who is scheduled to appear in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 this afternoon, was taken by rescue squad to St. Elizabeth Hospital, about 9 p.m. Sunday. He remained in the hospital, under police guard, until his court appearance.

The eastside man called the police station several times, starting at 4:45 p.m., inquiring as to the whereabouts of a knife that police used to cut a rope he used when he tried to hang himself about a year ago. The man became belligerent over the telephone. Besides calling police, he reportedly telephoned Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer at his home.

Swung at Police When the man called at 7:13 p.m., police, who had warned him earlier, went to his home, and placed him under arrest for disorderly conduct. He told police he would not go with them, and took a swing at a sergeant who attempted to get him to come along.

The man reportedly tore a patrolman's leg and tore shirts on two other policemen. Police, finally handcuffed him, after wrestling him to the floor, and took him to jail. The man reportedly had been drinking heavily all day.

Police said they checked the man's jail cell several times after he was booked in at 7:04 p.m.

At 8:47 p.m., two policemen working at the desk heard the man yell. They found he had ripped a cell blanket and wrapped one end around his neck and the other end around cell bars.

He was sitting with his back to the front of the cell and seemed to be "somewhat knocked out," police said.

Police gave him oxygen and called for the rescue squad. The man was taken to the hospital in restraining garments.

Man Held In Shooting At Menasha OSHKOSH — A Menasha man was being held by Winnebago County Police this morning for shooting his girl friend's ex-husband in the leg Sunday evening.

No charge had been issued at noon today. The district attorney was investigating to determine a charge.

County police said the shot that wounded Robert Foris, 27, route 1, Fond du Lac, broke up a fight between Foris and his ex-wife, Patricia, 27, who is living with her mother at 1564 Plank Rd., Menasha, scene of the shooting.

Police said they found the Menasha man holding Foris at gunpoint when they arrived on the scene. Foris is being treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Appleton.

4 Days Before Schoolyard Findings

2 Say They Saw Schmidt

Two persons, including a young newspaper carrier boy, saw George Schmidt, 82, 319 N. Division St., alive on Thursday, Sept. 21, Appleton police said today.

Authorities believe Schmidt was the victim in a bizarre butcher case which came to light Sept. 25 with the finding of human flesh on the playground on St. Joseph Catholic School.

Lt. Robert Frailing said he and other detectives questioned several persons living in the neighborhood of the N. Division Street house, and learned that Schmidt apparently was alive on the Thursday before the body parts were found. Police had reason to believe, before interviewing neighbors, that Schmidt might have died Wednesday, Sept. 20.

The newspaper carrier told Frailing that he saw Schmidt in the driveway at 319 N. Division St. The boy said he greeted the man, and received a reply. Another witness, whose identity police did not reveal, corroborated the newspaper carrier's statement, according to Frailing.

Sister Questioned

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said about noon today that he and detectives questioned Schmidt's 83-year-old sister, who came here from Milwaukee, and learned from her that the Schmidt house had been dark and she had received no response when she went there the night of Sept. 21.

Kemps said he would contact the State Crime Laboratory this afternoon to learn of the progress they are making in establishing a positive identity of the body which was found in pieces last week. The crime laboratory also is attempting to determine just how the man died, and the circumstances of his death.

Frailing said his office checked with all dentists and hospitals in the area, but had not been able to come up with leads in making positive identification Schmidt, the apparent victim, has been missing from home for more than a week.

A relative reportedly told police that Schmidt had never been to a dentist and had never been hospitalized.

Still Hospitalized

Meanwhile, police are hoping to be able to question Schmidt's wife, Marie, 80, who is still in St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was taken after police found her in her basement when they went to 319 N. Division St. with a search warrant early last Thursday morning.

Her doctor has not yet given police permission to question her. Frailing said Police said she apparently had attempted to commit suicide at her home just before detectives arrived. A rope was hanging from the

Waupaca Man Critical After Auto Accident

Car Hits Deer On State 54 Early Sunday Morning

WAUPACA — A 21-year-old Waupaca man is in critical condition and another from New London in satisfactory condition at Waupaca Riverside Hospital as the result of a one car accident, seven miles west of here at 1:25 a.m., Sunday.

David W. Engel, 21, 223 W. Badger St., lost control of the car he was driving after it struck one of two deer that ran across the highway. According to state traffic police the Engel car struck the deer, traveled 500 feet and rolled over three times in the ditch.

Both Engel and Richard C. Schwerin, 22, route 2, New London, were thrown from the car as it rolled over. Engel was found in a corn field 42 feet from the wreckage. He suffered a skull fracture, a crushed spine, internal injuries plus multiple cuts and abrasions. Both were taken to Riverside Hospital by Holly Ambulance.

Police said the car was west-bound at the time of the crash. The 1967 model car was demolished.

Good Neighbors' Flourish Church Laymen Set Up Community Aid Group

Church Laymen Set Up Community Aid Group

At a time when there is some doubt whether or not the term "good neighbor" is becoming obsolete, along comes an organization called Fish, which began its functions Sunday.

Taken from an ancient symbol of the Christian Church, the group, composed of laymen from many denominations, organized to meet the emergency needs of the community.

"There are many who find themselves in common emergency situations where help is desperately needed and, at the same time, there are many who will assist when needed or when a need and desire, to make their faith a living thing. Fish is one of the aides may be more together," explained Mrs. Lois Yatzek, chairman. Serving with her is Mrs. Mary Martines.

These people who will attempt to aid are untrained, ordinary people who are seeking to be good neighbors, she added.

Areas where members of Fish will provide help include babysitting, reading to the blind, providing meals, doing housework for the sick or disabled, companionship and transportation. Referral service where professional help is needed also will be supplied.

The Fish number which will be answered 24 hours a day by a trained volunteer is 3-6242.

French Scholar to Speak on 'Montreal and Wisconsin'

The first public event of the new University of Wisconsin-Green Bay has been scheduled, but it won't be at Green Bay.

UW's Fox Valley Center will be the setting of a lecture at 8 p.m., Oct. 11, sponsored by the "homeless" Green Bay school. Featuring French Scholar Marie-Helene Pauly discussing "Montreal and Wisconsin," the lecture will be the first of a four-part Canadian Seminar Series marking Canada's centennial. All but one of the lecturers in the series have been chosen.

Miss Pauly

Pauly is professor of French literature and civilization at San Francisco State College. Chosen by Government

She was chosen by the French government in 1939 as an exchange teacher of the Paris Academy to the University of Wisconsin. She taught French language and literature from 1939-1944 at Madison and did research in the old French regime in Wisconsin at the State Historical Society there.

"We feel we are particularly fortunate to have Mlle. Pauly as the initial lecturer in the Canadian Seminar Series," said Dr. Louise Witherell, Fox Valley Center associate professor of French. Dr. Witherell headed the committee which arranged the seminar lectures.

Eayrs, a professor of political economy at the University of Toronto, will speak Oct. 25 at the Green Bay Center on "Canada and the United States: The Politics of Diverging Policy."

Eayrs was born in London and came to Canada as a child. He was educated at the University of Toronto, Columbia University, and the London School of Economics.

Wrote 8 Books

Eayrs has written eight books on international, Commonwealth and Canadian affairs, the most recent being "Fate and Will in Foreign Policy." The first two volumes of his series titled "In Defense of Canada" won the Governor-General's prize for non-fiction in 1966. He currently holds a Guggenheim Fellowship to allow him to complete work on the third volume of the series.

Miles will speak Nov. 5 on "A Country with Too Much Geography."

Miles is the founder and director of the only undergraduate degree-granting program in Canadian Studies at a U. S. university. He has written many articles for scholarly journals and was one of 13 speakers at the first annual Canadian-American Institute jointly sponsored by the State University of New York at Plattsburgh, the University of Montreal and the University of Vermont.

Miles received his doctorate in geography from Syracuse University. Before joining the University of Vermont, he taught at Valparaiso University, the University of Virginia, the University of Maryland and the University of Florida.

Minister Won't Seek Office in Sixth District

OSHKOSH — The Rev. Paul Treat II, United Campus Christian Fellowship (UCCF) University pastor at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh, announced Friday that he will not seek the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Sixth Congressional District.

Rev. Treat, who had been considered a likely candidate by many Winnebago County Democrats, announced his decision Friday night to the board meeting of the UCCF at the First Presbyterian Church in Oshkosh.

Rev. Treat said Saturday he would not support the candidacy of John A. Race for the Democratic nomination for Congress because of Race's hawkish stand on Vietnam. He said he would, however, consider supporting William A. Steiger, current Republican congressman.

Menasha 'Duck' Hauls Cruiser From Rocky Winnebago Shallows

NEENAH - MENASHA — Fighting wind, waves, rocks and mud, the Menasha police rescue "duck" hauled a 31-foot cabin cruiser off the jagged shallows of Lake Winnebago north of Cowlings Bay Sunday night.

Neenah police, assisting on land, helped the four adults and four children in the craft to cars where they had parked before leaving earlier in the day on a pleasure cruise.

The owner of the boat reportedly had purchased it that morning for more than $15,000. The hull was punctured by the rocks, where it took a broadside beating from waves while awaiting rescue. The propellers and rudder of the twin-inboard craft were damaged beyond use.

The Neenah police boat was first called to free the imperiled craft. The cruiser was aground in about two feet of water, however, and the police boat needs twice that depth.

The DUKW, kept during the summer at the Menasha Army Reserve Armory at Jefferson Park, was called at 7:38 p.m. and radioed its job was complete at 9:40 p.m.

The DUKW, with Dan Luebke, captain of Menasha auxiliary police, at the helm, pulled the leaking cruiser off the rocks and headed for a channel at Indian Point, towing the cruiser.

Mired

The DUKW crew was unfamiliar with the channel and the amphibian rescue craft and its helpless follower became mired in the mucky bottom. The occupants of the cruiser were transferred to shore, and the DUKW finished towing the craft to safety.

A low boat from an Oshkosh boat repair firm brought a large pump later and towed the craft to Oshkosh where it was maneuvered into a sling to keep it from sinking while it awaits repairs.

Planners Will Exchange Ideas In Twin Cities

Development Efforts May be Coordinated, Particularly Traffic

MENASHA — Closer coordination of the Neenah and Menasha planning programs appeared likely as a result of correspondence made public today between the two cities' planners.

Sam Tolkin, senior planner for Victor Gruen Associates on the Menasha project, has written to Neenah's planner requesting an "exchange of ideas and information" between the two firms, particularly in mapping future traffic circulation patterns in the two cities.

Tolkin, who mailed a copy of his letter to Kenneth Schellie & Associates to Menasha Mayor Kenneth Holmes, also provided the firm that is drawing a development plan for downtown Neenah with a copy of the Menasha downtown plan adopted by the common council last fall.

Tolkin suggested that the two planning firms work together to prepare traffic plans that would meet the anticipated needs arising from predicted growth in the Twin Cities and to coordinate the planning with local government leaders and state highway officials.

In another development in Menasha's planning program,

Hot Coals Set Container Ablaze

Hot coals placed in a paper-board container caused a minor fire Sunday morning in a garage at the Daniel J. Bedford home, 407 N. Story St.

Street Barricades Stolen From Avenue

Appleton police are investigating the theft Saturday of three street barricades from downtown College Avenue.

Bud Mauel, owner of the 400 Gardners Row, Appleton, barricades, said they weighed 35 pounds each, were black and continuous wave radar repair white, and contained amber, course at the Army Missile and battery-operated flashing lights. He said the barricades cost a total of $141.

7 Injured in Crashes On Outagamie Roads

Two of 5 Mishaps Involve 3 Cars Each; None of Injuries Believed to be Serious

Seven persons were injured, none seriously, in five accidents on Outagamie County roads Saturday and Sunday. Two of the mishaps each involved three cars.

Earl D. Fredricks, 52, route 3, New London, suffered cuts to the forehead, face, nose, and right hand when his 1965 auto went out of control and tipped over on State 54, two miles east of Shiocton about 6:20 p.m. Saturday.

Fredricks was taken to a clinic by Shiocton police. He told authorities he was westbound on 54 when his car struck the north shoulder of the road, came back onto the roadway, then hit the shoulder again and overturned. Police estimated damage to the car at $1,800.

Three Injured

Three persons were injured in a three-car accident about 12:10 p.m. Saturday on U. S. 10 in Dale. Cars involved were driven by Christian Rutten, 37, 609 Park Ave., Little Chute; Darlene Wenzel, 25, 819 E. Brewster St., Appleton; and Timothy G. Strutz, 22, 320 E. Wilson St., Appleton.

Mrs. A. E. Wenzel, also of 819 E. Brewster St., complained of a shoulder injury, while Darlene Wenzel told police she had a neck injury. Rutten also suffered minor injuries.

County police said that all Mayor Holmes said he has asked Tolkin to postpone a meeting requested by the planner on Oct. 13 until later in the month.

Holmes said he suggested the delay because Tolkin, Gruen representative Jerry Pollak and representatives of the Economic analyst hired to assist with the planning had conducted meetings with local officials Sept. 21 and Holmes questioned the likely value of another meeting less than a month later.

School Plans

Holmes also disclosed this morning that Tolkin has asked on School Supt. M. J. Gegan to expand on information previously supplied by school officials concerning plans for meeting on future school needs in the Menasha Joint School District.

Car Owner

Police said she was in a car owned by Raymond J. Parkinson, 3106 W. First St., Appleton, which was parked on the west side of the road when it was rammed by a southbound auto driven by Bernard J. Kostorek, 46, 327 Oak St., Menasha. The Kostorek car was pulling a trailer.

Jack J. Dolan Jr., 45, route 2, Kaukauna, suffered a cut forehead about 9:30 p.m. Saturday when his car struck a utility pole on Greiner Road, 3 miles southeast of Freedom.

Dolan who was eastbound on Greiner Road told police he was on his way home from work when he fell asleep. His 1960 auto was extensively damaged.

Police said that the Davis car was slowing for traffic ahead when it was struck from behind by the Bartmann auto and was pushed into the rear of the Fabiszak car. A small boat atop the Davis car flew off onto the road and was damaged. Police, who estimated damage at more than $1,500, said all three cars were northbound on A.

Kris E. Beschta, 17, 408 E. Randall Ave., Appleton, suffered a back injury and was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by ambulance after the parked car in which she was sitting was struck from behind about 6 p.m. Sunday on County Trunk A, a mile and a half northwest of Appleton.

COG Utility Study 'Is Misunderstood'

No Rebates for Communities Undertaking Separate Surveys

A proposal before the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) to undertake a $225,000 comprehensive study of area water, sewer and disposal needs through the year 2000 has been "misunderstood" by many people, according to Eugene Franchett, executive director of COG.

"There is still some lack of understanding among officials and individuals over the program and its significance," Franchett said in an interview recently. Laurel Heaney, COG chairman and chairman of the Town of Neenah board, was also present.

The proposal, which will come up for a vote at the council's Oct. 3 meeting, is aimed at developing a long-range plan for sewer, water and disposal system development in the Fox Valley area.

Appraise Conditions

"Its long-range objective is to appraise existing conditions in the area so that the best services may be provided in the future," Franchett said.

"And at a cost the cities can afford," Heaney added.

Franchett said the proposal, if approved, would also satisfy Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) requirements that a municipality be a part of such an areawide study before it can apply for government funds. This requirement goes into effect July 1, 1968.

The study would cost approximately $225,000 — $150,000 of which would be furnished through a grant from HUD. The remaining $75,000 would be assessed against COG members.

Ask for Rebate

The Menasha City Council, at a recent meeting, suggested that COG communities which have conducted long range surveys of their own should be rebated part of their initial assessment for the council's proposed study.

Menasha is now undertaking a long-range comprehensive plan prepared by Victor Gruen Associates, which forecasts water needs of the community up to the year 2000. Menasha will be

Byrnes Rules Out Tax Boost Without Cuts in Spending

Says Even an Expenditure Ceiling Won't Assure Approval of Surtax

BY FRANCES McKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — "An income tax boost definitely will be out of the question this year unless Congress places a ceiling on federal expenditures," Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Green Bay, said today.

Byrnes, the top Republican member of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, also emphasized that "even if a ceiling is placed on the amount of money the President can spend, it does not guarantee that we will approve the 10 per cent income surtax increase, as requested by the Administration."

This is the situation, as a Congressional tax expert sees it, on whether or not Americans will find their paychecks shrinking via the tax withholding route during the next few months.

Controversial Subject

Byrnes' remarks cap what was one of the most controversial and complicated legislative situations faced by the House this year, and one in which he is credited with getting the ball rolling toward establishment of a federal expenditure ceiling.

It all started on Monday, Sept. 25, when Byrnes first disclosed Republican plans to try to attach a rider to an appropriations bill, which would direct the President to cut his spending program to combat an anticipated $30 billion deficit if he expected the Congress to approve a tax raise.

Telling the Bankers' Association Convention in New York that the Ways and Means committee members asked Administration officials why they were putting such an emphasis on a tax increase while at the same time lobbying for every program they had requested since last January, the Green Bay legislator gave specific examples of what he considered government extravagance.

Specific Examples

"We wanted to know why they were continuing to pressure for a 100 per cent increase in the so-plan," Heaney said "This is never brought out in discussion."

Want Best Plan

"HUD officials say that a comprehensive plan must be undertaken and the COG wants the best plan possible with the resources available in the Valley," Heaney added.

The resolution coming up for a vote on Oct. 3 asks that the $75,000 in assessments be adopted as part of the budget for 1968. If a majority of the COG members approve the resolution, all members will be compelled to pay their assessment.

Franchett said the only way a COG community can free itself from budget assessments approved by a majority of the council is through resignation from the COG. To resign, a member must give six months notice, according to the council's articles of agreement.

Needs Refinements

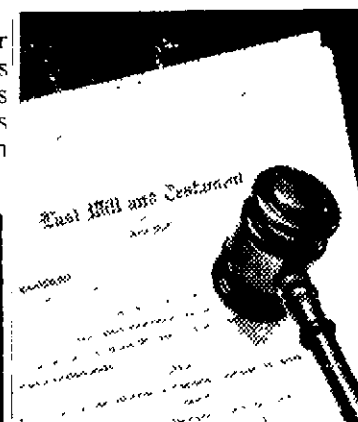

Franchett explained that once the study is approved, it will have to be refined and precise estimates will have to be given by engineers before the COG can apply to HUD for federal funds.

Further refinements may have to be made through joint HUD-COG sessions.

Heaney suggested during the interview that an informational meeting among staff and members of the COG may promote better understanding of the proposed study. He said one may be called before the next regular meeting of the COG.

"We hope that we can get the plan underway by January," Franchett said. The study is slated to run for between 18 and 24 months.

the Badger State delegation except Reps. Robert W. Kastenmeier, Watertown, and Clement J. Zablocki, Milwaukee, both Democrats.

"Now what we will have to try to do is to get the rules committee to approve a rule by which we can offer our amendment directing the President not to spend above a specific ceiling," Byrnes said during an interview. "Then we must round up enough votes on the House floor to pass the measure."

The appropriations measure is slated to come up on Tuesday. What happens then, Byrnes won't predict.

And if the House passes the Byrnes-Bow amendment, will the Senate approve it, and if it does, will the President veto it? "That's out of my hands," Byrnes smiled. "Let's just get it through the House first."

Jaycees Would Convert Church to Youth Center

Club Tells Appleton Council It Will Pay Interest on Loan Needed to Buy Building

An offer to pay to the city the interest (as rent), totalling about $5,200, on the $139,000 loan for the purchase of the Congregational Church, has been made to the city council by the Appleton Jaycees. The Jaycees would like to turn the church into a youth center until the city needs it.

The motion to immediately purchase the property on Lawrence

Street will be reconsidered by the council at Wednesday.

Originally the council had debated buying the property now, in case it would be needed for the bridge the city plans to build in the future.

However, that motion was defeated because plans for the bridge will not be completed for at least three years and it is not known at this time whether the church property will be needed.

The Jaycees, who had asked for reconsideration of the council's motion, also will meet with the board of public works at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday to explain their proposal.

According to Jerry Long, recently named Jaycee chairman of the proposed youth center project, the plan is made doubly attractive in that the Catholic Activity Council (CAC) has announced it will go out of operation and will donate about $8,000 worth of equipment to furnish the center.

Long also added that the Jaycees had met with the high school student councils and had gotten favorable reactions to the project from all of the students involved.

"There are about 5,000 high school students in Appleton and the YMCA can't possibly accommodate all of them," he said. "This is a fine opportunity to give everyone a good place to meet and have fun. Right now many of them have to meet on the street."

Another meeting between the Jaycees and student councils of the high schools is planned for Tuesday.

Stock Market Posts Losses

Individual Gains Still Outnumber Issues Declining

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market turned downward in active trading early this afternoon.

The edge held by advances among individual stocks over declines contracted to less than 50 issues from 140 in early trading.

Within a few minutes after the opening the New York Stock Exchange ticker tape fell one minute behind in reporting floor transactions.

Brokers said they felt that rises in machine tool orders and construction awards in August over July would be helpful to the market.

Steels, rubber, mail order-retails and airlines were mostly lower.

Changes of most key issues were fractional with a few around a point.

The Dow Jones average at noon was off 3.52 to 923.14.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was down 3 to 338.5 with industrials off 1.1, rails up 4 and utilities off 2.

The averages were hurt by declines of more than a point by Du Pont and Eastman Kodak. Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

Combined Mills Announce Net Income Increase

COMBINED LOCKS — Combined Paper Mills, Inc., has announced a slight increase in the firm's consolidated net income for the first six months of the current fiscal year.

Net income was $845,950, as compared with $835,624 for the same six-month period last year. Sales during the last six months totaled $14,906,230, an increase over the $14,045,130 shown for the same period last year.

Income amounts to $1.52 a share on 555,435 shares of Class A and Class B common stock, as compared with $1.58 a share on a lesser number of shares outstanding during the first six months of 1966.

The company attributed the continued profit rise to an increased rate of production resulting from mechanical improvements to existing equipment.

Egyptian Civilians Evacuated in Canal Area, Israel Claims Jews See Move as Preparation For Attacking, Drawing in U.N.

By ED BLANCHE Associated Press Writer
TEL AVIV (AP) — After 10 cross-canal battles with Israel in September, Egypt is evacuating civilians along the Suez Canal in preparation for more fighting, authoritative Israeli sources said today.

They contend Egypt plans to increase incidents along the waterway hoping to push the United Nations into demanding Israel's withdrawal from territory it won in the six-day June war with the Arabs.

About a quarter of Port Suez's 25,000 civilians have left the town at the canal's Red Sea end, and the evacuation is continuing, the sources said.

Israel's defense minister, Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan, allowed a statement on the Suez escalation with a warning that "Israel may have to take the battle into Arab capitals" in the event of a new Middle East war.

U.N. Focus

Dayan and others believe Cairo needs continued fighting to distract Egyptians from their economic sacrifices and focus U.N. attention on the blocked canal.

"For every shell we get, they get four back," an Israeli military source said. "Their military bases, roads and other targets are in range. All they can hit is sand."

Officials in Tel Aviv, blamed anti-Israel saboteurs for placing an explosive charge at the U.S. Embassy. The device failed to explode because its timing mechanism broke down several minutes before it was set to go off Friday.

A police guard at the embassy was increased after disclosure Sunday of the bomb plot. The device was found while U.S. Ambassador Walworth Barbour was away.

Equal Benefit

As King Hussein of Jordan prepared to fly to Moscow for a four-day state visit and discussions of possible Soviet aid for his kingdom, his foreign minister, Muhammad El-Aamry, said in New York that a settlement of the Middle East situation would benefit both the Arabs and Israel.

The minister did not elaborate on this statement in an interview but added, "All I can tell you is that I hope there will be good chances for a settlement."

Israel has demanded direct talks with the Arabs as a basis for any discussions. No Arab state has suggested so far it might be willing to go along with this condition.

In Cairo, an extreme left-wing government official and confidant of President Gamal Abdel Nasser, was unexpectedly dropped to a post well out of the corridors of power.

Control Left

Ali Sabry, deputy premier and minister of local government, was made minister for the Canal Zone—a move interpreted in Cairo as an attempt by Nasser to keep a tight rein on the left.

Sabry had been under fire recently for failing to make Egypt's single ruling party, the Arab Socialist Union, more democratic.

Egypt's prosecutor-general issued a report in Cairo that Field Marshal Abdel Hakim Amer, ousted from power in the post-war officers purge, committed suicide by poison. Israeli newspapers had claimed he was murdered.

The autopsy said no traces of violence or chronic disease were found. No poison was discovered either, but Prosecutor Mohamed Abdel Salam said "that is scientifically acceptable because of the very small dose he took and because of the nature of acotine poison."

Meter Men Join Corps of Women

NEW YORK (AP) — Some meter men have been added to the city's meter maids to help enforce curbside parking meter regulations, says Traffic Commissioner Henry Barnes.

Barnes said 14 men were added to the meter force last Monday "because under the state fair employment practices law, we cannot discriminate between people, whether they're male or female."

He appeared on the CBS radio program, "Let's Find Out."

Also, Barnes said Sunday, the meter men can work alone in areas of the city which the city's 200 meter maids consider hazardous.

English Union Buys Graves for Future Use

WOLVERHAMPTON, England (AP) — A local branch of the Transport Workers' Union ordered three graves today—for future use.

The request went in after a union member recently was given a pauper's burial due to lack of money.

Branch Secretary Sam Clark said: "We are determined to see that none of our members ever face a pauper's funeral."

Walkout at Ford in 26th Day

UAW Strikers 'Will Not Surrender'

DETROIT (AP) — Nearly 160,000 United Auto Workers members entered the 26th day of their strike against Ford Monday.

Henry Reuther cracked, "That's as much as that no one is worth 480 times more than a Ford worker."

Reuther said, "I would like to look young."

He said Ford's term, "unconscionable," is a "fancy word meaning damned unreasonable. He didn't come here because he knows he has no good arguments at the bargaining table and he wouldn't have any good reasons as to why our demands are unreasonable."

The union's demands are topped by a goal of a substantial wage increase, an extra pay boost for skilled tradesmen, guaranteed annual income, higher pensions and raising Canadian plant pay to the U.S. level. The average straight time hourly pay for the industry as a whole is $3.41, plus about $1.30 hourly in various fringe benefits.

The companies estimate meeting the union demands would almost double the worker's pay in wages and benefits.

Four Children, Three Adults Killed in Crash

PRINCETON, W.Va. (AP) — Two automobiles, miles apart and each filled with children, headed for church services Sunday. Less than an hour later, the autos collided head-on and four of the children and three adults were dead.

Netta V. Holder, 44, of nearby Lashmeet, and her three children — Evelyn, 11; Teddy Ray, 10, and Glenda Sue, 5 — were killed.

Clarence Ray Harman, 37, and his wife Josephine, 32, of Princeton, were killed instantly. Their son John 11, died in a Princeton hospital shortly after the collision.

Five other Harman children were reported in critical condition while a sixth, Linda Harman, 11, was termed in serious condition. All were reported to have multiple fractures and lacerations and were believed to have internal injuries.

Wilson Under Fire

Laborite Chief Hit by Own Party for Business Favoritism

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON Associated Press Writer
SCARBOROUGH, England (AP) — Labor party Chairman John Boyd unleashed an attack today on Prime Minister Harold Wilson's economic policies, charging that the government used boxing gloves when dealing with workers and kid gloves with businessmen.

Boyd, one of the leaders of the big Amalgamated Engineering Union, made his charge in a speech opening the Labor party's annual convention.

Boyd expressed the bafflement of the 6,000 delegates over the government's policy of deflation which has sent unemployment soaring to a 27-year peak.

He defended the government's actions in health, housing, education and social security but said it wasn't enough. Wilson had been counting on him to help defend against some criticism within the party.

Workers, Boyd said, were seeing their earnings whittled away by even higher prices and he lashed out at profits of some industrialists.

The ordinary people, Boyd said, "can see sections of society growing richer and richer, with no real effective redistribution of such wealth as the nation possesses."

The interests of the working class, he continued, must be protected. "This still can be done. In fact, this conference must say to our parliamentary colleagues, 'It must be done.'"

Wilson was prepared to hit back hard at critics including three former Cabinet ministers—defense Secretary

Emanuel Shinwell, President of the Board of Trade Douglas Jay, and Minister of Technology Frank Cousins.

He already had arranged: "For Boyd to rap those 'with petty minds who were either incapable or unwilling to understand the problems of others.'" Calling in his prepared remarks for party unity and trust, Boyd offered a diversion by urging the government to probe the seedy side of big business.

— For party managers to get the convention off to a quiet start on its first day with an examination of the more positive aspects of Labor social welfare policies.

— For his chief lieutenants,

Foreign Secretary George Brown and Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan, to address the conference on the international and economic issues worrying delegates. Wilson himself elected to make a keynote speech Wednesday in which he means to stand firm on his strict recovery program and to rule out any premature economic expansion.

Wilson's strategy emerged Sunday night at the traditional eve of convention rally which he attended but did not address. Instead Brown, a long-time right-winger, offered an explanation of the government's problems and remedies in dealing with the economy and unemployment.

He sought to defend the rise in unemployment by saying it was not nearly so large or so permanent as it was during prewar opposition Conservative administrations.

Wilson's critics on the left and right have set out to defeat him by combining the issues of the national economy and Britain's bid to join the Common Market.

Shinwell, Jay and Cousins, in separate statements, asserted the government is avoiding all-out recovery measures because these would jeopardize British chances of joining the Common Market.

Time Bomb Kills Two Policemen

TRENTO, Italy (AP) — A time bomb in a suitcase taken off a passenger train blew up in the station of this north Italian city Saturday as two policemen ran with it away from the passenger coaches. The two policemen were killed and a third was wounded.

The train was crowded with passengers, and a police spokesman said "If the bomb had exploded on the train or among people inside the station there would have been slaughter."

Hurricane, Flood Cleanup Starts

Texans Attack Silt, Slime

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — With the floodwaters of history's second most destructive hurricane surging into the Gulf of Mexico from the Rio Grande, thousands of Texans today were repairing, rebuilding and reclaiming their homes from the ravages of Hurricane Beulah.

Shovels and water hoses were being used to clear away silt and slime. Insurance adjusters were going door to door to handle claims. Federal and state disaster agencies were getting into gear.

The danger of flooding at Brownsville is past. Flood stage is 18 feet and the last official reading was 17.38—"as high as it's going to get," said Jack Stewart of the Brownsville Weather Bureau.

Minor Flooding

There was some minor flooding between the levee and the river, Stewart said.

Down stream from Matamoros, just across the Rio Grande in Mexico, there was a scare Saturday night when a dirt levee crumbled and 600 persons living nearby fled. No serious flooding occurred and Mexican officials said the levee could be easily repaired.

Disease from polluted water, supplies was a threat throughout the lower Rio Grande Valley and typhoid and tetanus shots were being administered.

Lt. Ray Shannon of the Harlingen police said the National Guard pulled out at 3 p.m. Sunday.

"We're on our own now," Shannon said. "We're trying to keep sightseers out of town until things get back to normal. We've been real fortunate in that there has been very little if any looting."

Beulah hit 12 days ago at the mouth of the Rio Grande. The Weather Bureau said, even before the floods began, that it was the second storm to do $1 billion damage. The first was Hurricane Carla that hit the Texas coast in 1961.

Twelve persons in Texas have died as a result of Beulah.

All teachers and staff members of the Three Rivers, Tex., school system were ordered to report today to begin a cleanup campaign. A F. Cobb, school superintendent, ordered 900 new desks to replace those which fell apart in the flooding.

Harlingen officials were hopeful their schools could be back in operation by Oct. 9. Many schools here were used as emergency shelters and others were flooded.

Broken Water Main

Drivers were exploring a shattered water main under the flooded Nueces River. The line served the towns of Portland, Ingleside, Taft, Gregory, Odem, Port Aransas and Aransas Pass. It broke with floodwaters last Monday.

Zeke Replaces Injured Starr, Paces 23-0 Win

Tosses 2 TD Passes To Dale; Jordan Spearheads Defense

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service
MILWAUKEE — Natty now in his dark Packer jacket and gray slacks, Zeke Bratkowski rapidly descended the steps from the old Milwaukee Braves dressing room at 4:10 p.m. Sunday.
En route to a County Stadium exit and the team bus, via an underground ramp, he was immediately surrounded by auto-graph hunters and interested observers.
One of the latter queried, "Max, is Elijah (Pitts) still up there?"
Without missing a stroke of the pen, or looking up from the task at hand, the Brat pleasantly but crisply rejoined, "I'm Zeke ... and Elijah's still up there."
Summoned Hastily
Although the venerable quarterback has been mistaken for look alike Max McGee on more than a few occasions, it was an ironic postscript to another sterling relief performance by super sub, hastily summoned when luckless Bart Starr again was injured on the Packers' second offensive series.
He modestly noted, "I've been fortunate in having a team which can adjust to me after playing with Bart," but Bratkowski deserved no less than instant recognition by the faithful for his efforts in spurring the Pack to a 23-0 victory — and into the Central Division's undisputed lead — after his first quarter takeover.
Not only did he complete 15 of 26 passes for the plush total of 214 yards, but pitched two scoring strikes (of 5 and 50 yards) to far-ranging Carroll Dale — the Packers' first touchdowns by air in three National Football League ventures to date — in forging his seventh successful relief stint win over the last three seasons.
The Brat, who delighted a record (for Milwaukee) gathering of 49,467 fans with his deft passing, typically paid tribute to his collaborators. "Our receivers did some good jobs of adjusting," he said. "The Falcons did some things defensively we didn't expect — they did a lot of safety blitzing."
Elaborating on his reserve role, he added, "I try to pattern myself after Bart and prepare myself just as he does each week so there isn't such a big adjustment ... but there is still some adjusting to be done. In play-calling, automatics, even in the snaps, there is a difference because we are two different individuals."

St. Louis Comes From Behind to Topple Lions

Hart Spurs 38-28 Victory With Two Long TD Passes

By BEN BROWN
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Young Jim Hart passed for two touchdowns as he led St. Louis from a 14-point deficit to a surprising 38-28 victory over Detroit Sunday in the Lions' first game of the National Football League season.
Hart uncorked touchdown passes of 48 and 57 yards to Bill Gambrell and Jackie Smith, respectively.
Hart completed 19 of 27 passes for 313 yards while Detroit quarterback Milt Plum hit 17 of 26 passes for 206 yards.
The running of Johnny Roland complimented Hart's passing. Roland scored three times, twice from the one and once from the six.
The victory gives St. Louis a 2-1 record in the Eastern Conference's Century Division while yardage allowed. They had given Detroit a 1-1 in the Western Conference's Central Division.
Deflect Passes
Both teams used deflected passes to score touchdowns. Detroit's second score came when Hart, passing near his goal, had the ball deflected by the onrushing Darrin McCord into the hands of defensive right end Larry Hand, who stepped into the end zone.
The St. Louis go-head touchdown came early in the third quarter when a Hart pass, intended for Gambrell, was deflected to Smith on a play that covered 75 yards.

Aldridge Glad to be Back Lombardi Calls Defense 'Excellent,' Praises Jordan's Performance

Post-Crescent News Service
MILWAUKEE — The foundation of Packer success? "Pride. You've heard us talk about pride?"
Yes, Henry Jordan, everybody has heard of the famed Packer pride.
"Well, I'll tell you now," Jordan smiled in the crowded Green Bay dressing room some minutes after he had played a major role in helping the Packers demolish Atlanta, 23-0, here Sunday. "We weren't too happy with our statistics for the first two games. The defense, that is, here kinda got together right here before the game and talked about doing something about it. If we improved the statistics, we improve our whole performance."
Jordan's words underlined the pride gospel because going into Sunday's game, the Packers actually ranked second in the National Football League in yards allowed. They had given up only 392 in the first two games while Pittsburgh led with 378.
But the Packers don't like being second.
Atlanta, which had brewed up 31 points just two weeks ago against Baltimore, which in turn held powerful San Francisco to a mere seven points Sunday, suffered the first shutout in its short history in County Stadium and gained only 58 yards in the somewhat humiliating process. Ironically, the closest the Falcons had come to being shut out previously was last year against the Packers when they were trounced, 56-3.
Falcons coach Norb Hecker knew this and acknowledged that he had tried to prevent the shutout with the field goal try that fell short on the second last play of the game.
Of those 58 yards, 34 of them were earned in the final 1:24 of the game. Over the first three quarters, Atlanta had netted only four yards and they added only four more in the first 10 minutes of the final frame.
Coach Vince Lombardi called the defense "excellent" but, with a vague reference to the "opposition," would not go so far as to declare it the best the Packers have ever shown under him. The Falcons, of course, are in only their second year of existence.
He did add, however, "They played very well ... I don't know what else I can say." And he did have a "very good" label for Jordan, who three times reached the Falcon quarterback for deep losses.

Indians Name Dark Manager Becomes Ninth Field General Since 1957 Season

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Alvin Dark was named manager of the Cleveland Indians today by General Manager Gabe Paul, replacing Joe Adcock.
In announcing the appointment at a news conference, Paul said he had sought Dark last year and considered him "one of the game's best managers."
When the 45-year-old Dark became available after being released in Kansas City a few weeks ago, Paul said it offered an opportunity he "couldn't afford to overlook."
Dark managed the San Francisco Giants from 1961 through 1964, winning the National League pennant in 1962 and having two thirds and a fourth place for his other finishes. He coached with the Chicago Cubs in 1965 and went to Kansas City in 1966.
Dark is the ninth manager the Indians have had since the 1957 departure of Al Lopez, who guided the tribe to its last pennant in 1954.

It was the best thing that's ever happened to Gentleman Jim in Boston ... and the finest moment for the Red Sox in 21 years.

Frenzied fans ripped the shirt off Lonborg's back in a wild demonstration of affection Sunday after the big right-hander teamed with sensational Carl Yastrzemski to lead the Red Sox past Minnesota 5-3 and bring Boston its first American League pennant since 1918.
"It was sheer mania," said Lonborg, whose seven-hit victory over the slugging Twins — coupled with an 8-5 Detroit loss to California — put the Red Sox over the top on the frantic final day of the zaniest pennant race in history.

George Blanda isn't ready for that rocking chair quite yet, thank you.

Football's grand old gray-beard proved that Sunday when he booted three long field goals that helped Oakland's ambitious Raiders upset Kansas City, the American Football League's defending champions 23-21.

It was an oldtime performance for the 39-year-old Blanda, who played his first professional football game when Harry Truman was president and Joe Namath had just started grade school.

Blanda crowded out by younger men at Houston is a bit elderly to be dodging blitzing linemen at his old quarterback slot. But he can still kick a football and after all, that's what the game is all about.

Came in Handy

So Blanda hooked on with the Raiders and came in handy Sunday with field goals of 31, 33 and 42 yards as Oakland stunned the Chiefs. It was Kansas City's first loss to an AFL opponent in almost one year and the last time the Chiefs were beaten in their own league, Oakland also did the job.

In other AFL games Sunday, Namath, who is no longer in grade school, passed for 415 yards and broke a league record as New York dropped Miami 29-7. San Diego, led by rookie running back Dick Post, ripped Buffalo 31-17, and Houston won a defensive struggle from Denver, 10-6.

Daryle Lamonica shared the Raiders' spotlight with Blanda, passing for 236 yards and completing 23 of 38 attempts. Coach John Rauch was delighted with the victory over the Chiefs.

It was a tremendous win for us," said Rauch. "It gives us the opportunity to get up on top. I'm glad we did it before the Eastern trip, which has always been tough."

3-Game Tour

The Raiders open a three-game tour of the East in New York Saturday night and Blanda might be interested in watching Namath. The Jet quarterback had all after burners going against Miami wearing down the Dolphin defenders with 23 of 39 attempts and three TDs.

Namath was intercepted only once and by then he had gained 398 yards through the air. That broke the mark of 375 yards gained without an interception set by New York's Al Dorow in 1960.

Namath might have had a shot at Blanda's league record of 464 yards gained but sat out the last four minutes. Coach Herb Ewbank and Namath talked over the strategy of going for the mark.

I know you're close to the record," Ewbank told Namath, but I'd hate to see you get hurt. Namath agreed. Records make no difference to me," he said. "They're nice to have, but I really couldn't care."

The Packers' Ben Wilson (36), who had a big day against Atlanta Sunday, drives for a 17 yard gain in the second quarter. Defenders include Sam Williams (88), Joe Szczecko (71) and Ken Reaves (36). (Post-Crescent News Service Photo)

Starr Question-Mark for Lions

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MILWAUKEE — Dominic Gentile reached for Bart Starr's arm and slowly gently lifted it to shoulder level, then let it down again.

There was pain perhaps as much psychological as physical, on Starr's face. And never let it be said that psychological pain can't be as terrible as physical.

Starr was standing on the sideline as Gentile, the Packers' assistant trainer, massaged his right shoulder. It was an unusual position for Starr but that bruise on his shoulder, suffered early in Sunday's eventual victory over Atlanta in County Stadium here, plus several tons of misfortune that hung with a anything I'm sorry. Please towel around his neck had put don't construe this as being hum there.

Just 10 minutes into the game, Starr had been squashed by Atlanta's Bob Riddle and Tom Nobis. He went to the bench holding his right arm, already burdened by a tight tape job over his wrist and between his thumb and forefinger.

Ice Pack Applied

His head was down, but when he raised it to pull off his helmet, there was a grimace painted on his face. Somebody wiped the sweat off his face and Dr. Eugene Brusky began examining his arm and shoulder. An ice pack was applied under his jersey and pads and Dr. Brusky gave him a pill and some water.

Gentile continued to massage. And then Zeke Bratkowski, Bart's good friend and replacement, fired a touchdown pass to Carroll Dale and Starr clapped his hands in appreciation. He moved over to shake hands with Zeke.

Despite his injury, despite the frustration that was welling up in him, Starr was still the gentleman, the team player.

Sprained Thumb

And though the vexation of a season that has included a sprained thumb, bruised ribs, nine interceptions in two games, and now a bruised pitching shoulder continued to mount, Starr continued to be Starr in the dressing room after the Packers had disposed of the Falcons, 23-0.

But he didn't want to talk. Understandably. Pitching a sock away, under-handed, he excused himself to the reporter it almost hit.

I don't really care to say

rested quite a bit.

Coach Vince Lombardi said he didn't know how seriously Starr was hurt and didn't know whether it would affect his readiness for the Detroit Lions this Sunday.

Furthermore, Lombardi did not have any evaluation of his No. 1 quarterback's performance up until he was hurt, a short stretch that saw him complete two of six passes for 14 yards.

Only Two Series

"He wasn't in long enough only for two series," Lombardi said.

Atlanta coach Norb Hecker felt that Bart was "off on his passing."

As to Bratkowski's relief job, Lombardi concluded that Zeke did "very well" just what he's supposed to do. And Hecker, though he wouldn't be drawn into comparing quarterbacks, stated, "he's a good one." It was noted that there was a small smattering of boos when Starr was introduced before the game but Lombardi insisted: "I only heard cheers." Bart did not comment on the boos.

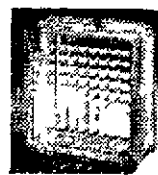

Starr wasn't the only one hurt, though Tackle Forrest Gregg was out of action for awhile with a cut that turned out to be nothing serious.

Only Six Times

And Jim Grabowski, who had been banged in the leg on one of his 32 carries against the Bears a week ago, carried only six times for 14 yards in part time duty against Atlanta as he was rested quite a bit.

Washington Fends Off Late Bid for 38-34 Triumph

By TOM SEPPY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rookie John Love and Bobby Mitchell sparked the Washington Redskins to a 38-34 victory over the New York Giants Sunday in a National Football League game.

Flanker Love scored on a 14-yard pass and was credited with a two-yard return of a fumble recovery which he fell on in the end zone to put the game on ice. Filling in for ailing Charlie Gogolak, he also kicked a 27-yard field goal and five extra points.

Love's recovered fumble came after Carl Lockhardt intercepted a Sonny Jurgensen pass, and fell over backwards on the two-yard line, the ball scooting into the end zone.

Gains 110 Yards
Mitchell scored a six-yard touchdown, while picking up 110 yards on the ground for the Redskins.

The Giants, behind scrambling quarterback Fran Tarkenton, came up with two touchdowns in the fourth quarter to battle the favored Washington to the wire.

Eight seconds after Washington's Jerry Smith scored on an 11-yard pass to put the Redskins ahead 31-20, New York's Homer Jones scored his second touchdown of the day—a 68-yard pass play from running back Ernie Key.

The Giants came right back after Love's recovered fumble touchdown and drove down the field with Tarkenton hitting Aaron Thomas on an 11-yard pass play.

Snead Passes for 4 TDs as Eagles Defeat Steelers, 34-24

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Quarterback Norm Snead threw four touchdown passes, two to flanker Ben Hawkins, who had his finest day as a pro as the Philadelphia Eagles defeated the Pittsburgh Steelers 34-24 Sunday in a National Football League game.

Hawkins, a disappointment in 1966 as a No. 3 drafted rookie, set up the Eagles' winning score in the fourth period with a 36-yard kickoff return and then caught the eight-yard TD pass which snapped a 24-24 deadlock.

Snead threw scoring passes of five yards to Izzy Lang in the first period, 29 to Hawkins in the second, and the clincher to Hawkins with less than six minutes remaining in the game.

The Eagles led 24-14 at half time, but the Steelers' Mike Clark kicked a 24-yard field goal to close it to 24-17 heading into the final 15 minutes.

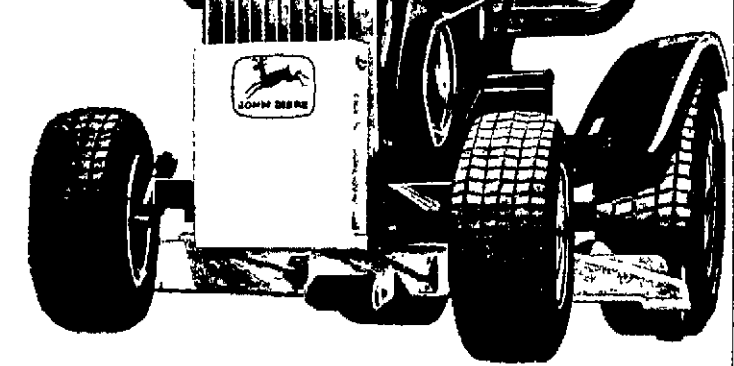

Nix Tosses TD
Then Steelers' quarterback Kent Nix tossed 18 yards to end J. R. Wilburn and with Clark's third conversion, knotted the score at 24-24.

The Steelers' scored first on a 25-yard first period run by Willie Asbury. Then after falling behind 17-7 Pittsburgh's Dick Hoak ripped three yards into the end zone.

Snead's four-yard TD pass to Kelly sent the Eagles to a 24-14 halftime advantage.

Sam Baker kicked field goals of 36 and 35 yards and converted four extra points for the Eagles.

NFL's Top Offensive Unit Stopped Cold by Stiff Baltimore Defense

By GEORGE BOWEN
BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts swept to their third straight National Football League victory Sunday with the defense in command all the way and quarterback Johnny Unitas brilliantly mixing up a running and passing attack for a 41-7 triumph over previously unbeaten San Francisco.

Unitas threw two touchdown passes before he turned the job over to rookie quarterback Jim Ward with nearly eight minutes to play. Ward moved the Colts 46 yards for another touchdown on a 10-yard pass to rookie end Ray Perkins.

Perkins, playing instead of injured Raymond Berry, also snagged a 33-yard touchdown pass from Unitas. Tom Matte, also scored twice on a 19-yard pass from Unitas and a 11-yard run.

Lenny Moore, rammed three yards for another TD and Lou Michaels kicked two field goals for the undefeated Colts.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers reactivated defensive end Lionel Alldridge and receiver Bob Long Sunday. Both players had been sidelined with injuries.

To make room on the roster, Coach Vince Lombardi placed rookies Dick Capp and Claudis James on the waiver list. James is a flanker from Jackson State, and Capp is a tight end from Boston College.

WIAA Liberalizes Age Rules, Tightens Camp Regulations

STEVENS POINT (AP) — Age rules were liberalized and regulations governing participation in summer camps were tightened by the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association during the weekend.

A boy who becomes 19 years of age on or after Sept. 1 will be eligible for sports for the entire high school year. There had been separate cut-off dates for fall and winter-spring sports.

New restrictions limit boys to no more than two weeks' participation in a sport in specialized summer camps and clinics.

The residence rule was changed to allow boys to become eligible for athletics immediately after changing schools if their parents move into a new school district or if betterment of home life can be documented.

Elaine Krueger Crashes 599 Series

Elaine Krueger cracked a 245 game and came within one pin of a national honor count as she recorded a 599 series to lead the Trinity Couples League at Sabre Lanes Saturday night.

Ken Radichel was high for the men with a 588 series and the only other honor score in the league was Ernie Munsche's 556 series.

In the Alley Cat League at the carries and Wheelright with 12 yards in seven tries.

Ray Nitschke paid further tribute to Jordan as well as to Willie Davis. Jim Weatherwax, Lionel Aldridge and all the dogfates in front.

"It was a great game all around, but Jordan gave them a heck of a rush," he said, nodding toward the nearby Henry for emphasis. "But it was Willie and the rest of them too. The whole front four. You've got to get a rush from them and we got it today."

The defensive captain pointed out in particular that the secondary was playing the Falcon pass receivers close, giving the front four time to get to the quarterback.

"It's impossible to get to him unless they miss an assignment without help from the backs," he declared. "They have to give that extra second to get at the quarterback."

As to his safety, in which he smacked down Atlanta quarterback Randy Johnson for a nine yard loss and the two points just before the first half ended, Davis recalled. "It was a normal rush but I don't think their blockers knew where the quarterback was. I saw him make a move and faked outside. The blocker didn't know where Johnson was and I went right up to him."

Aldridge, activated only Sunday morning after being out of action since Aug. 18 when he fractured a bone in his left leg against the Bears in an exhibition on this same turf, had a canyonesque grin on his face as he volunteered, "It feels real good to be back in there."

"Train" was credited with two of the Falcons' yardage-losing plays and his overall job prompted Lombardi to agree. "He played very well for the short time he's been playing again."

Looking down at his mended limb, Aldridge said, "the leg didn't bother me. Oh, it got a little tired after awhile because I haven't been using it and it hurt a little then."

While the Packers were accepting praise and parrying it neatly by crediting one another, Atlanta's Hecker felt his team contributed a little to the world champions' spectacular effort.

"It's the same Green Bay defense," said the man who helped mold it before accepting the Falcon position last year. "But we didn't block anybody. I guess that was pretty obvious."

The same help for the particular lack of pass protection given the Georgians' quarterbacks.

"When you don't block anybody, they're going to get in there," he declared. But he then added, "there were a few times the quarterback could have thrown the ball too. But he didn't and that didn't help either. It sure puts you in a hole."

Two of the Falcon quarterbacks were understandably high in their praise of the Packer defense. Though starter Randy Johnson was an early leaver for the locker room because of a pulled groin muscle that sidelined him most of the second half, Steve Sloan commented, "I played the Packers two years ago when I was with the College All-Stars and they never change. They just play well together and they're great athletes."

Terry Nofsinger, who had the most success of the three Falcon pitchers with seven of 11, agreed with Sloan. "They pretty much play the same defense every time. They beat you man for man. They just have great personnel."

possessor of a string of 12 successive FGs going into action, philosophically shrugged off yesterday's misadventures.

"It's just one of those things," he said. "When you're kicking from that far back, you're not going to make all of them — and the wind was pretty bad today. The only thing I felt bad about was that short one."

Kick Sails Wide

A 25-yard attempt, the latter sailed wide to the right just 58 seconds before the first half ended, at which point the Packers were out front, 16-0. Chandler earlier had seen a 46-yard boot beer to the left of the uprights late in the first quarter. Another 46-yard effort was wide to the left early in the third quarter and a fourth try, from 47 yards out, was blocked by the Falcons' Karl Rubke and recovered by Atlanta on its own 42.

While the offense was mustering its highest point total of the infant season, despite its assorted misfortunes, the incomparable defense was throttling the Falcons like they never have been throttled before.

With Davis, Henry Jordan, and the mountainous Jim Weatherwax and Bob Brown leading the charge, with assistance from the just reactivated Lionel Aldridge, the miserly Packer defenders restricted the Georgians to a puny 58 net yards and added insult to major injury by shutting them out for the first time in their two-year history.

Manhandling the Falcons up front, they burst through eight fumbles to fell quarterbacks Randy Johnson, sidelined during the second half by a pulled groin muscle; Steve Sloan and Terry Nofsinger for a total of 81 yards in losses. As a result, Atlanta emerged with only 19 net yards passing, despite 13 completions in 25 attempts.

Fittingly, a defensive gem triggered the Packers' first touchdown. It saw linebacker Dave Robinson leap in front of Falcon tight end Billy Martin to make a juggling interception of a Johnson pitch along the western sidelines late in the first quarter and return it four yards to the Atlanta 27.

"I couldn't get there like I wanted to — I was lucky the ball held up," Robbie later explained. "Martin made an outside release, which drew me out a little bit. I went back into the hook zone and then I saw the quarterback looking into the flat, so I went back out there."

"So that false start helped me," he grinned. "If I'd gone into the hook zone when I normally do, I would have been too far in to get back out there."

Replaces Starr

It took the offense only four plays to capitalize on this opportunity. Bratkowski, who had just replaced Starr after Bart suffered what was announced in the press box as a bruised shoulder, first sent Pitts over right guard for two yards, then hurled a 13-yard strike to Boyd Dowler.

Dowler was rouged on the play by the Falcons' Jim Norton and Atlanta was penalized an additional three yards, carrying the Pack to the 5. Pitts was held for no gain on first down, but on the next play, the Brat found Carroll Dale alone in the left corner for the TD at 12:56 of the opening quarter.

"It was what we call pivot-out, a fake slant-in and out," Dale, who speared five passes for 97 yards over the route, explained. "He (defensive back Lee Caland) took the fake — he was going for the slant."

That grudging defense also figured indirectly in the Pack's next scoring sortie. The rampaging Jordan flung ex-teammate Junior Coffey for a 7-yard loss on first down, then stormed through to hurl Johnson for another 10-yard deficit on third, forcing a 53-yard punt by the Falcons' heavy-footed Billy Lofthridge.

Mounting their most explosive push of the afternoon, the Packers flew 83 yards in five plays after Donny Anderson returned that booming boot 12 yards to the Green Bay 17.

Wilson, who emerged as the Pack's leading ground gainer with 82 yards in 13 thrusts, barged for 12, Anderson added 9 and Wilson 3 for two rapid-fire first downs.

Veers Sharply

Bratkowski then hit Dale twice in succession, the first time for 9 yards. The second, a "play-book" maneuver, saw Zeke loft a "bomb" to Dale down the middle. Taking the ball in stride on the Atlanta 18, a stride in front of Calland, Dale veered sharply to his left and streaked the distance.

"I realized somebody was going to be coming quickly," Dale smiled. "That's why I cut back the way I did. Somebody (Calland) had hold of my ankle at the end zone, but he didn't get me down. . . I didn't know who it was — I was running for my life."

The scoreboard barely had time to post that TD before the Packers were back in point production. The Falcons were penalized for holding on first down following the kickoff, which Ron Smith returned to the Atlanta 26. Johnson next was snowed for a 5-yard loss, then driven back into the end zone on third down, where the relentless Davis spun him to the turf for a safety at 12:48 of the second quarter.

Shortly after Chandler's final field goal attempt was blocked early in the fourth quarter, the defense presented the attackers with another opportunity when Bob Jeter waylaid a Nofsinger pass and returned it 25 yards to the Atlanta 33.

Eight plays later, the Packers were home, Wilson wheeling outside right end from the 11 at 10:18, one play after Brat had hit Boyd Dowler with a 10-yard pitch for a first down on a third-and-1 situation.

Desperately striving to avoid that first shutout, the Falcons made a valiant attempt in the final seconds, but Wade Traynham's 47-yard field goal fell short and bounced into the end zone.

Jim Taylor Scores New Orleans' Only TD in 42-7 Defeat

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Frank Ryan, hobbling on two sprained ankles, threw three touchdown passes and Leroy Kelly gained 110 yards rushing Sunday as the Cleveland Browns ended their victory drought in the National Football League with a 42-7 rout of New Orleans.

A 50-yard touchdown pass from Ryan to end Paul Warfield in the fourth quarter came on a disputed call and thereafter every time Cleveland had the ball, a gigantic chorus of boos arose from the 77,045 fans.

Warfield appeared to have been stopped at the five, but got up and scampered into the end zone and the official raised his arms to signal a touchdown.

Ryan, who sprained both ankles two weeks ago, led the Browns quickly downfield after they had taken the opening kickoff. The march covered 71 yards in eight plays with Kelly accounting for 41 yards. The touchdown came on an 18-yard pass to Warfield.

Out Temporarily

Ryan went out temporarily at the end of the first period. He was run out of bounds by Saint defensive tackle David Rowe, who smashed the Brown quarterback to the ground at the Cleveland 15. Ryan returned in the second quarter.

While he was out, Dick Shiner quarterbacked the Browns and on his second play, Jackie Burkett stole a pass and ran it back to the Cleveland three. Two plays, later, fullback Jimmy Taylor crashed over from the two and the Saints had a 7-7 tie.

Minutes later the Browns got their go-ahead touchdown when Ryan found Ernie Green alone for a 41-yard TD pass play.

Cleveland broke the game open in the third quarter, with Kelly going around right end for a one-yard touchdown.

game. We played five minutes of football, then went dead."

Battle of Defenses
It was Landry who said before the game that it would be a battle between two great defenses and they couldn't afford mistakes.

Dallas made a couple of mistakes early in the third quarter when the score was 7-6 favoring Los Angeles. Pettis Norman fumbled a pass and Maxie Baughan recovered on the Dallas 40 to set up a touchdown.

Three minutes later Ed Meador intercepted a Don Meredith pass that went through Lance Rentzel's hands and ran 30 yards for another touchdown.

Commented coach George Allen of the Rams: "The turning point came when we scored those two quick touchdowns in the third period."

Broke Down

Dallas wasn't worth much after that as the Cowboy defense broke down to allow a Los Angeles 78-yard drive. Mike Gaechter committed pass interference and the 30 yards assessed Dallas set up the fourth Ram touchdown.

Then the Rams just swept through the Cowboys for 93 yards and their final touchdown, with Roman Gabriel throwing passes for 33 yards, Tommy Mason running for 16 and Dick Bass 23. Bass got the touchdown with a 21-yard sprint.

The Los Angeles defense even blocked the try for extra point after the first Dallas touchdown so that the Rams could be leading 7-6 at halftime. Irv Cross did the blocking job.

Gabriel scored two touchdowns after setting them up with his passing and Les Josephson's running. He also set up a couple of other scores with his throwing, plus running by Bass and Mascro.

The Ram defense allowed Dallas to make one sustained touchdown drive.

The other Dallas score came when Jon Kilgore had to hurry a punt because of a bad pass-back from center and Harold Hayes blocked it to put the ball on the Los Angeles one-foot line. Even the Dallas offense could score from there although two tries were required.

Rookie Harold Deters missed on two field goal attempts although they were, to be fair about it, rather long—43 and 40 yards.

Uncounted Residents Cause Gaps in Economy

BY SYLVIA PORTER

There are, says a New York state senator, 300,000 living New Yorkers who don't officially exist. To trace them, the senator has just called for a new federal head count in Harlem because, as a result of the population undercount, New York City is losing some $2.5 million in state aid funds apportioned on a per capita basis each year.

There are, population experts estimate, a fantastic total of 57 million living Americans who don't officially exist. The 1960 census just happened to miss a number equal to the combined populations of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

Why the undercount? What does it mean?

Something to Hide
One factor is unavoidable human error on the part of census-takers — particularly in this age of high population mobility when one family in five moves each year.

Another factor is that many Americans deliberately avoid being counted because, for one reason or another, they "have something to hide from the government." This is despite the fact that all census information about individuals is confidential and is never disclosed to the Internal Revenue Service or any other agency.

But a third — and probably the most significant — factor is the Negro male who is separated from his wife, who has no particular address and who simply may "float" from apartment to apartment in his neighborhood or sleep in flophouses.

It's estimated that one in six Negro males between the key ages of 20 and 39 may not be included in the official census. In all, there may be as many as 24 million more nonwhites in the U.S. today than the official estimate of 23,589,000.

A first economic meaning of this is that big-city ghettos are missing out on millions of dollars in anti-poverty and educational funds which are being funneled into poor areas on the basis of numbers of poor residents. If the population of any given area is drastically understated, its share of federal and state funds also is cut — and this in turn may force local tax hikes to make up the difference.

Misleading Statistics

A second economic meaning is that both businesses and planners at all government levels may be misled by census statistics. If local population counts are seriously off base, they can throw a monkey wrench into local marketing plans by business. If thousands who need public services most are not even in the records, adequate planning for services ranging from roads to hospitals is impossible.

To close this gap, the census bureau is now experimenting with a variety of new techniques for uncovering millions of "missing persons" across the U.S.

a trial census by mail was taken Sept. 25. The area was plastered with posters claiming "You Are Important. Don't Be A Missing Person." Paid "missionaries" helped pass the word around — and find "hard to reach" individuals through informal contacts with neighborhood barbers, beauticians and bartenders. Census enumerators now are following up mailed questionnaires with personal visits to verify household to doublecheck nose counts.

In addition, posters were put up immediately after the census, asking "Were You Counted?" and containing pockets of postcards requesting the names and addresses of those not counted. The rehearsal in Philadelphia suggests what must be done to improve the accuracy of our next national nose count. Maybe there aren't only 57 million non-existent living Americans. For all we know now, maybe the total is twice as big!

Police later arrested a 53-year-old man and charged him with homicide, intoxicated driving, leaving the scene of an accident, operating an unregistered vehicle and driving without a license.

Hatfield, Gen. Gavin Support Each Other as Pick for GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — A senator count himself out of the running for a retired general lent him support today for a presidential bid. New Hampshire's Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., said Sunday he would support some nonhail, candidate in the Oregon presidential primary, and he gave his warmest praise to retired Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin.

Gavin, who has said he would halt the bombing of North Vietnam and negotiate for peace, was president of the Hatfield and Gavins Association of New York, a Republican club. He had no power base, no money and no organization, he said. "I have only ideas and conviction." But I didn't

Pressure
On Marines
Is Eased

New Center of War

Enemy All Around Con Thien

By PETER ARNETT

CON THIEN, Vietnam (AP) — This shell-battered outpost held by U.S. Marines is becoming a symbol of the new war in the northern region of South Vietnam, a war whose pace and tactics have been determined by North Vietnamese Communists.

For U.S. Marines at Con Thien it looks like a grim fall and winter in the five northern provinces that make up Vietnam's 1st Corps. They see little—militarily, geographically or climatically—to relieve the somber picture that follows what one senior American official called "a pretty unpleasant summer" in the corps area.

As inhabitants of the three red-mud hills of Con Thien, the forward-most allied stronghold in Vietnam, the Marines can be expected to hold a sour view of the situation. The primitive outpost guarding possible invasion routes into South Vietnam has become the lightning rod of the war, attracting savage bombardments from the hidden guns in the enemy sanctuary in North Vietnam across the Ben Hai River border.

Hazardous Entry

The monsoon rains are beginning to drum in, clogging foxholes with mud and making helicopter flights—the only way in—hazardous.

Because it nudges North Vietnam, Con Thien is the easiest target in the country for the northern Communists. They send sappers in nightly to probe the barbed wire defenses. Snipers are active at all times. The Marines say they are not surrounded, but there is no doubt that the enemy is all around.

Senior Marines make little attempt to hide their fear that the necessity of repelling enemy thrusts at the demilitarized zone will destroy the whole concept devised to fight the Communists elsewhere in the large 1st Corps region, a concept determined in more than two years of U.S. Marine commitment to the war.

Already, Marine officers say, painstakingly acquired advantages in key corps areas have been eroded because of the need to meet Communist pressure at the DMZ.

Marines say Communist reasoning is obvious: "In the broadest sense, the enemy purpose is to draw U.S. forces away from the main thrust of the war—destruction of the Communist guerrilla infrastructure, and road and village security," a senior Marine explained.

"In this, he has succeeded. Midsummer last year we had bombing halt would bring peace talks, President Johnson offered Friday to halt the bombing if it would "lead promptly to productive discussions" aimed at peace.

Two Senate critics of Johnson policy said Sunday if the bombing were halted and North Vietnam did not respond with a peace gesture, the war might flare up dramatically.

Would Back Pause

Sen. Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, who has opposed escalation of the war, said the possibility of intensified attacks on the North is one reason he does not now advocate a cessation of air strikes. But he said "if the President ordered a bombing pause, I would support it."

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., said he recognizes that a truce halt could intensify pressure for all-out attack but said "a cessation of the bombing is an indispensable requirement for peace talks and I think we ought to take the risk."

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., said he recognizes that a truce halt could intensify pressure for all-out attack but said "a cessation of the bombing is an indispensable requirement for peace talks and I think we ought to take the risk."

Crash of Train, Bus Kills 4 in Nebraska

WATERLOO, Neb. (AP) — A uninjured, was reported in school bus and a freight train wrecked after the collision, which killed four children and injured nine others.

The number of dead was confirmed by Douglas County Hospital at Children's Memorial Hospital, where the injured were taken, attendants said seven of the nine appeared to be mostly frightened and were to be released shortly, but two were being held for observation although they did not appear to be seriously injured.

The driver was quoted as saying he stopped at the rural road intersection but because of the morning sun, he did not see the approaching train.

The bus was taking rural students to schools in Waterloo.

W. L. Nybblein, the head brakeman on the 97-car Union Pacific freight which railroad officials said was traveling about 48 miles per hour, was riding in the cab on the left hand side and reported he had seen the bus approaching.

Pieces of the bus were scattered as far as 50 feet from the crash scene.

A railroad spokesman said the intersection is on a graveled rural road and the railroad crossing is protected by a standard cross-buck sign.

Waterloo is a village of a little more than 500 about 15 miles west of the Omaha city limits.

When word came that California had defeated Detroit 8-5 in the second game of a double-header to eliminate the possibility of a playoff, the frustrations of 21 years were loosed as fans began a revelry that continued into the early hours of today.

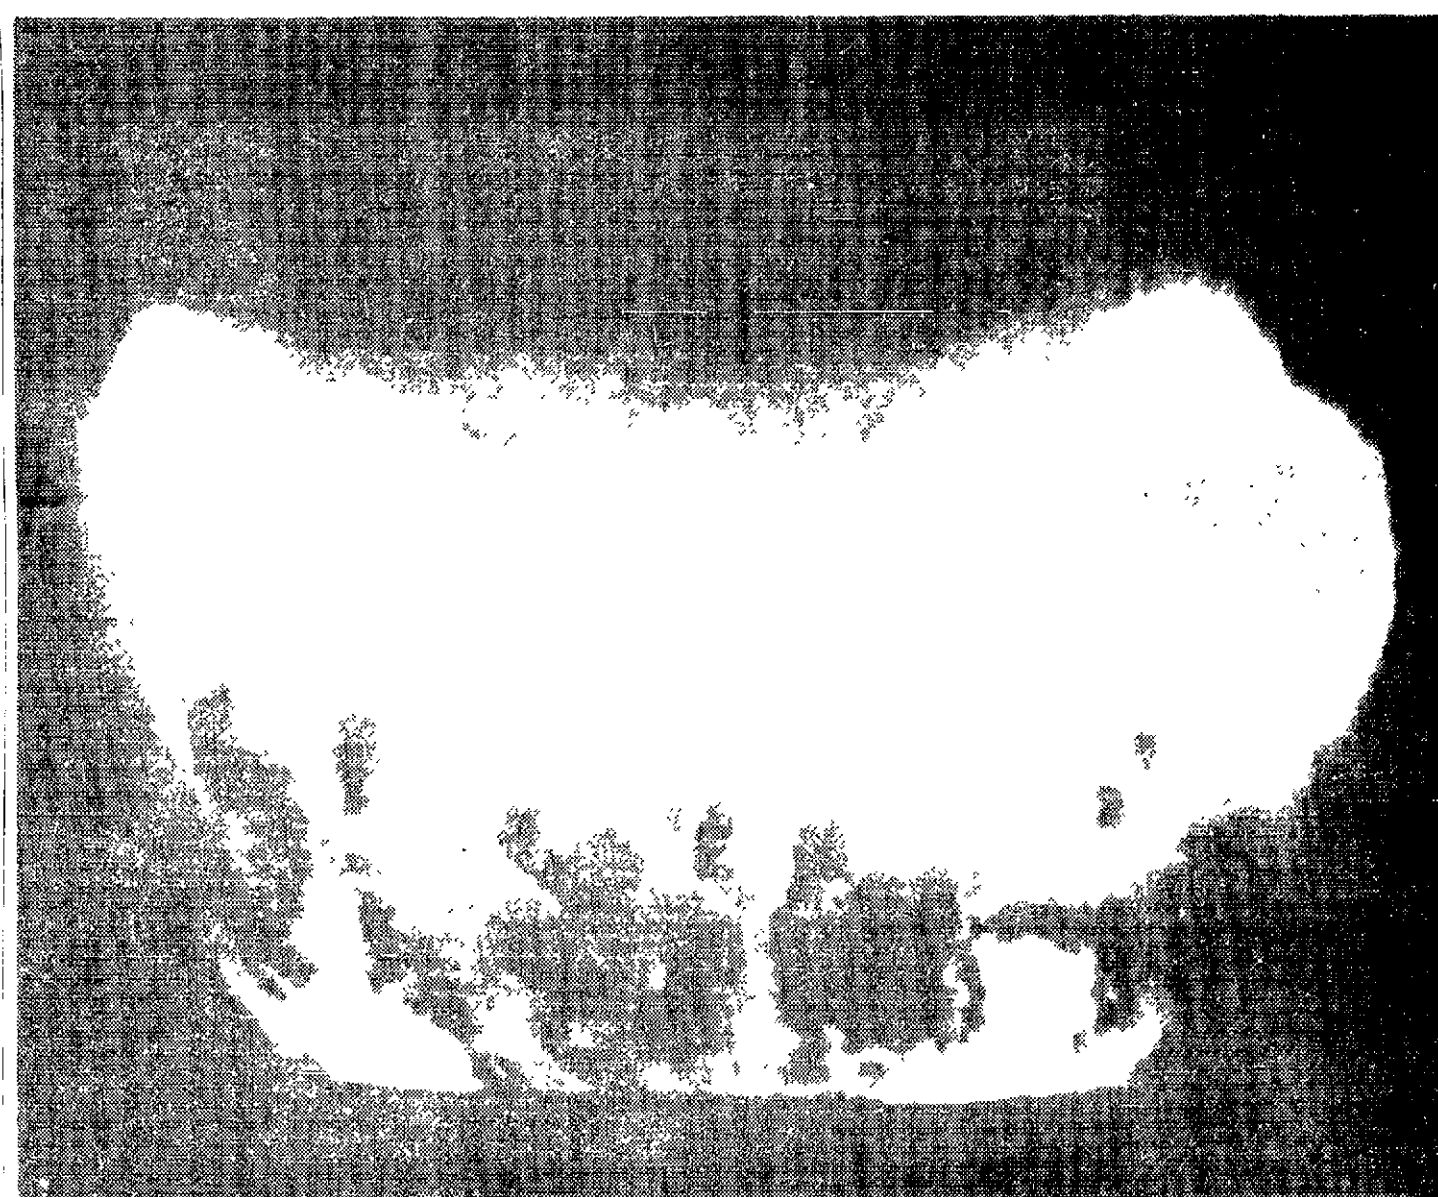

The crowd halted traffic in the square and surrounding area.

Boston mounted police were helpless and two raised their fingers in a V-for-victory salute. The crowd clapped and chanted, "We're No. 1! We're No. 1!"

Monoxide Kills 4 Teen-Agers

AMHERST — A wedding church is about 3 1/2 miles west of Wildwood Gardens, 2 1/2 miles east of Stevens Point on U.S. 10, Portage County authorities said.

The four had attended a wedding dance Saturday night at about 10 miles from where the

The four, Patrick Docka, 18, Amherst Junction; Karen Groholski, 17, and Marjorie Teschner, 16, both Amherst, and Leighton Johnson, 18, Almond, were found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning about 9 a.m. Sunday in a car parked in a field near a rural Catholic church.

Windows of the car were closed and the motor had been running, according to Portage County Coroner Joseph Bodzislav. The four had been dead for about six hours when they were discovered by two Amherst High School students, Lyle Konkol and Glenn Allen, who were walking through the field near St. Mary Mount Carmel Church. The

The criteria whittled Thieu's total of 1.65 million votes down to 1.2 million. But presidential runner-up Truong Dinh Dzu's vote dropped from 817,000 to 228,000, giving Thieu an even larger margin of victory.

The final vote in the assembly on Thieu's election appeared to be a foregone conclusion. Six of Thieu's civilian opponents in the election Sept. 3 are demanding that the victory of the military ticket be nullified on the ground the balloting was rigged.

The assemblymen debated against a midnight deadline. The session was preceded by the violence outside the National Assembly. About 200 university students tried to march on the building and police dispersed them with clubs. Several students came away bloodied.

The students were demanding that the assembly nullify the elections.

Although the final vote was not immediately available, the majority necessary for Thieu's confirmation was obtained before the voting was completed.

During the day's debate the assembly accepted six criteria by which the 4.7 million voters cast were to be considered valid. When the criteria were applied to the Sept. 3 election results, Thieu came out with an even bigger winning margin than before.

Tax Cheating on Campaign Contributions Investigated

Limited Probe in Los Angeles Spreads Across Entire Nation

BY ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Federal tax agents have quietly expanded an investigation of political contributions into New York with special emphasis on the lavishly financed 1965 campaign for mayor by Republican John V. Lindsay.

This revelation ought to send chills up the backs of campaign contributors, public relations-advertising firms, and political finance chairmen in every high population state. It shows that what began accidentally in the spring of 1966 as a limited probe in Los Angeles has gone national. Its impact promises to rock the murky world of campaign financing.

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) is putting its finger on a seamy fact of political life. Although federal law makes clear political contributions are not tax deductible, businessmen for years have been claiming deductions on political gifts through ingenious, though illegal, devices.

These devices, universal in big time politics everywhere, are infinite in their variety. There are, however, two principal methods.

Two Methods

Method No. 1: the businessman writes a check to a PR-advertising agency, which bills him for "services rendered." The agency then either gives the money to the candidate's campaign or deducts it from what the campaign owes the agency. Either way, the businessman has a receipt to claim his contribution, illegally, as a tax-deductible business expense.

Method No. 2: the campaign gives the businessman a bill for some campaign expense — say, printing of handbills. The businessman pays the printer directly, getting a receipt from the

Harvard Students Take Linens, Lose Services

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — The Harvard Student Agencies' linen service has dropped its door-to-door deliveries because students last year appropriated 8,000 towels, 1,000 pillowcases and 940 sheets valued at $5,000.

Starting this week, students who pay the $28 annual charge for the service must turn in their dirty linen at depots in each resident house instead of dumping their sheets and towels outside their rooms every week.

Stephen Roy, manager of the linen service, said students were using sheets to paint posters, advertising parties. One junior said he used 120 towels last fall to pad his living room carpet.

Antiburglary Measure Fails

BELMONT, Mass. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Pratt went away two times on weekend trips and each time they returned, they found their home burglarized.

They went away this weekend, but packed all their valuables—$8,000 worth—in a suitcase and took it with them.

Sunday, 19-year-old William Valentine of Wakefield brought the suitcase into police headquarters after finding it lying along Route 128 in nearby Lynnfield.

Police said the suitcase apparently had fallen off the Pratt's automobile luggage rack.

Woman Says $42 Was Taken From Her Purse

KAUKAUNA — Mrs. Anna Lamers, 201 W. Eighth St., complained to police that someone entered her home sometime Friday and took $42 from her purse which was lying on a kitchen cupboard.

There was no sign of forced entry and Mrs. Lamers was not sure just when the money could have been taken.

Bridge Classes Start Tuesday at Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — Adults signed up for the recreation department sponsored bridge classes are to report to the basement rooms of the municipal building at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Clarence Theis will serve as instructor. Persons not registered, but interested in learning, may call the recreation office to determine whether there are openings.

Vehicle Damages Porch in Neenah

NEENAH — A hit-and-run vehicle left an estimated $40 to $50 in damage to a front porch sometime Saturday afternoon, police said.

Mrs. Emma Fickle, 109 Union Ave., said when she returned from shopping about 6:45 p.m., she found the damage to the front porch of her home. Officers found a part of the vehicle at the scene.

The home adjoins a driveway behind a tavern.

United Givers' Campaign

The entire Appleton community faces a critical challenge these next few weeks. The first United Givers' campaign kicks off today with the goal of raising $313,000 for 19 Red Feather agencies.

This is considerably more money than the predecessor Community Chest campaign was able to raise. And yet in comparison with other communities of this size in Wisconsin and across the country it is an entirely realistic goal.

United Givers are raising money for five new agencies this year — agencies which previously conducted their own individual fund drives. And they are providing the total Red Cross budget for the first time. Every local social service agency of any size is now included in the United appeal, plus two national health agencies represented for the first time.

For years citizens have complained about too many drives. Now they have an agency through which most of the worthy organizations soliciting funds can be served. And more on the outside are watching to see if this drive is successful before considering whether to join up.

The goal of $313,000 represents the basic minimum needs of the 19 Red Feather agencies. The agency budgets were reviewed by hundreds of citizens, first by the boards of the respective agencies, then by the budget committee of United Community Services, and finally by its board of directors. These citizens say to the rest of the community that this is what we need to spend to maintain the quality of community services a city like Appleton needs.

Services to youth groups make up the largest single portion of the budget. Then there are services to our servicemen and their families, to our elder citizens, to our handicapped friends. This is not welfare. It's people-to-people service, neighbor-to-neighbor, friend-to-friend. It's the kind of service government cannot render. It's a community service. And it's a community responsibility.

The New Bridge — A Four Year Project

Advice from consulting engineers that it will take up to four years to design and build a new high-level bridge over the Fox River in central Appleton emphasizes the necessity of getting preliminary studies started immediately.

The board of public works recently interviewed firms interested in making such a study, and this time estimate represented their unanimous conclusion.

Now that the College Avenue project has been completed, and now that the city is fortunately well provided with off-street parking facilities downtown, we must immediately start giving our attention to providing easy access for motorists to the central business district. If we do not the considerable investment we have already made will not pay off.

The Chinese-U.N. Question Again

The National Policy Panel of the United Nations Association has recommended that the United States should get behind a move to encourage the admission of Communist China to the United Nations.

Although the United Nations Association may not be widely known, at least in this part of the country, its policy panel includes former government leaders from the last three presidential administrations. There is Ernest Gross, former chief deputy American delegate to the U.N., Arthur Dean, law partner of John Foster Dulles who helped in working out the Korean armistice, Charles Yost, a deputy to the current American Ambassador to the U.N., Arthur Goldberg, Kenneth Young, once American Ambassador to Thailand, and Robert Roosa, under secretary of the treasury during Kennedy's Administration and part of Johnson's. Clearly these are men with extensive government experience in both domestic and foreign affairs.

A year ago the panel suggested that the United States carefully review its opposition to admitting Red China to the U.N. and consider withdrawing it. But the stand this year goes much further. Not only should the United States not oppose the admission but it should take an active part in trying to bring it about. And the panel points to the fact that "China's nuclear program is developing with greater rapidity than many had originally estimated" as a major reason why efforts should be made to contact the government in Peking and somehow to get it in touch with the rest of the world.

If one sticks strictly to the "peace-loving nation" as a definition of those who should be admitted to the U.N., Red China obviously does not qualify. But it is difficult to determine exactly who does these days. A lot of current members, such as Cuba and the United Arab Republic, do not seem overly peace-loving and even the United States has not abandoned war as a part of its foreign policy. The need, as the panel sees it, is to find a way of drawing Peking into world discussions where other influences than its current paranoia could be brought to bear.

This point of view is in conflict with the official United States view as expressed recently by Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Mr. Rusk repeated former statements that Peking wouldn't consider joining the U.N. unless the government of Taiwan were ejected or even turned over to Peking. Secretary Rusk may be quite right that Peking would turn down an offer of admission to the U.N. But this is a negative approach similar to the Secretary's insistence that we must find out what Hanoi would do to reciprocate if the United States were to halt the bombing of North Vietnam. It is a negative rather than a positive stand.

Despite the rationality of the panel's recommendation, it probably comes at a time when chances of an invitation to Red China are at an all time low. Ambassador Gromyko vaguely said in his opening day speech at the General Assembly that "it is necessary at last to solve the question of the restoration of the rights of the Chinese People's Republic in the United Nations." But Russia is almost on better terms with the government of Chiang Kai-shek than with that of Mao Tse-tung. Every other Communist member of the U.N. except Albania and possibly Cuba, is bound to oppose Chinese membership if the Soviet Union does. And while Russian opposition might not be active, its encouragement of Chinese admission is likely to be no more positive than is the American. For a number of reasons Asian and African members also are lukewarm about Red China and not much enthusiasm can be expected from Portugal or Great Britain with their problems of colonies on the Red Chinese border under harassment.

It is quite likely that in great part because of active American opposition, the United Nations has lost the opportunity of admitting Red China. It is impossible to know whether Peking would have behaved differently had it been a member the last decade or so. If China and Russia had remained close, they might be a greater world threat than either is now. Even the "revisionist" views of history now being written have not yet demonstrated that the cold war is the fault primarily of the United States.

However, the alternatives to finding a way to talk to Peking are continuation of a buildup of tensions and the threat of a Chinese nuclear attack on a country like India and the resultant dilemma for both the United States and the Soviet Union, and an all out war against a nation of 750 million people. As the policy panel points out, active American encouragement of seats in the United Nations for both Taiwan and Peking would give Chinese opponents of the present aggressive policies something to bargain with.

Death of Pioneer Settler Noted

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Sept. 21, 1867.

The death of Mrs. Bateman, wife of our estimable Mayor, the Hon. Robert R. Bateman, takes from us another of the pioneer settlers of Appleton.

Mr. and Mrs. Bateman settled here in the winter of 1848-9, being among the first half-dozen families to brave the privations incident to life in the wilderness. Both have always been held in high esteem by all who have been so fortunate as to know them.

For about four years, Mrs. Bateman has suffered very much from chronic rheumatism, and has not taken a step unaided. She rests in peace.

Taylor Writes

Our Word Must be Good, LBJ; But What About Cuba, Writer Asks

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

President Johnson stated again in his speech to the Latin-American foreign ministers at the recent meeting of the Organization of American States that "America's word must always be good."

Taylor

This was an unfortunate, if not shocking, occasion to repeat that requirement considering how good our word was regarding Cuba, the island we always swore to defend. But Mr. Johnson was furthermore connecting the requirement, as he does repeatedly, with our promise to defend South Vietnam.

In that case no such promise was ever made.

Even the Southeast Asian Defense Treaty that comes closest to the subject is merely permissive and the only direct promise ever given was given by Mr. Johnson himself.

Yet his own record in this respect is one reason for the tragic division in our country about the rightness of our Vietnam policy and the reliability of the President himself as a promiser.

RECALL GOLDWATER STAND

It proved impossible to follow what Presidential candidate Barry Goldwater said from day to day while he was schussing down the slope. But the parallel between what he urged, what candidate Johnson ignored, what Mr. Goldwater said, what Mr. Johnson denied, and what Mr. Johnson is doing is positively devastating.

Reviewing the Vietnam facts, the President unabashedly told the OAS ministers: "The United States has a long history in Vietnam." The French had a long history there; we didn't. The place where we had a long history was Cuba, a confusion of fact that could hardly be lost on Mr. Johnson's Latin-American listeners.

In 1823 the French Ambassador to London, Prince Jules de Polignac, proposed to Paris a detailed carving up of Latin America among the European powers as several areas gained independence from Spain. The United States issued its counterweight warning: the Monroe Doctrine.

President Kennedy's fiasco at the Bay of Pigs shattered our ancient Monroe Doctrine forever. On October 10, 1897, heroic liberators sparked the uprising against the colonial government of Spain in Cuba that finally lit the flame for the island's independence.

During this Cuban uprising the U.S.S. Maine stood in Havana harbor to protect American citizens. On February 15, 1898, she was blown up with a heavy loss of American lives.

Pretext or not, and the pretext claim involving the Maine was never proven, the American nation was deeply sympathetic with the Cuban refugees who had fled here and the revolutionists fighting the cruel Spanish rule. We immediately declared war.

Of all her colonies, including the Philippines, that Spain lost during the centuries Cuba was the last one.

From that day forward every President of the United States, including President Kennedy while Mr. Johnson was his Vice-President, and especially President Kennedy, has sworn to defend Cuba.

Yet after approximately 60 years of independence Cuba is again a colony — this time a colony of Soviet imperialism. A Red satellite fringed with fire 90 miles from our shores.

The Soviet would rather have Cuba than Alaska — and why not?

The President said that "we must stand firm" and that the Vietnam war "is worth the price," explaining why we have 500,000 Americans fighting a land war in Southeast Asia.

He often misquotes President Eisenhower about Vietnam. Why does he never quote himself, and correctly? Mr. Johnson simply chooses who he wishes to involve.

On October 25, 1964, he stated for the umpteenth time: "We don't want our American boys to do the fighting for Asian boys . . . and get tied down in a land war in Asia." Are millions to forget that? Moreover, disbelief is a cumulative process.

I, for one, am convinced that President Johnson honestly wonders why his reputation for truth-telling is so low. Politics creates vapors. Certainly, he is honestly concerned about his famous "credibility gap" and insists that he does not deserve to be doubted. And when he repeatedly states that "America's word must always be good" he states an absolutely indispensable requirement.

But that's the rub. Our

New Natural Resource Board Is Off to Good Start, Chairman Says

BY R. G. LYNCH

MADISON — An old reporter is back at his typewriter to do a guest column for a respected former colleague. I am grateful for this opportunity to comment publicly on our new department; I think the people are entitled to know how the state Board of Natural Resources is shaping up.

Lynch

The comments are mine alone. All of the board members are strong-minded men who can be expected to voice ideas of their own. So, this discussion had better begin with:

The Board — A good board, a credit to Gov. Knowles' judgment. It comprises a variety of viewpoints, knowledge and experience. In its short existence there has been a perceptible settling down and evidence of mutual respect that promises a good working relationship. The members, without exception, accept reorganization as a fact and, I think, are pleased to have a hand in making it a good one.

The Secretary — Lester Voigt was the obvious, almost mandatory, choice. A six-man task force, which recently studied the Conservation Department for the committee on expenditure management, commented on the high caliber of dedicated personnel, the effective use of manpower, the long-range planning and the director's tenure (now 13 years).

CALLED ONE OF BEST

"We are starting to understand some of the reasons why the Wisconsin Conservation Department is recognized as one of the finest in the nation," the task force said.

With such an endorsement by an objective study team, how could Voigt be denied the secretaryship of the new Department of Natural Resources?

Without question, Freeman Holmer would have made an able secretary. He is an experienced, high-level administrator respected nationally. Our Resource Development Board was fortunate to get this man to head up the water pollution control program.

He has been at that task less than a year. He has made excellent progress, but the program still has far to go.

Strictly Personal

Style Should Not be Substitute for Content

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

A radio announcer, along with many other readers, has written in to tell me how much he appreciated my recent column on correct pronunciation over the air and elsewhere.

Harris

"However," he adds, "I am puzzled by your inconsistency, for recently you dashed off a paragraph lambasting the Milton Cross-type of announcer for his precision. In view of your column on poor pronunciation, what do you mean?"

I mean that in speech, as in everything else, the form must be subordinate to the content. While sloppy diction (like sloppy clothes) is to be avoided, over-precision pronunciation is a vice at the other extreme. The golden pear-shaped tones of a Milton Cross (I use him only as an example) call more attention to themselves than to what they are expressing. When he is reciting a commercial for a nonscheduled airline, his voice is just as

Now he has taken over the water regulatory work of the Public Service Commission, air pollution control and solid waste disposal.

HOLMER IS KEY MAN

Even if there had been no Voigt, Holmer could not have been taken from his present task. He is the key man in an ambitious and urgent state program of environmental protection.

Russell G. Lynch of Wauwatosa is a widely known Wisconsin newspaperman, now retired, who was recently named chairman of the State Board on Natural Resources.

tection. In another year, Holmer may have his division on a basis which will permit other use of his talents. Meanwhile, Voigt has indicated that he intends to call on him to the fullest extent possible without interfering with Holmer's primary responsibility.

The Programs — Integration of resource agencies entails a real risk that important programs will lose identity and emphasis. This must not be permitted to happen here.

Of primary concern just now is the pollution control program. All of the board members, Voigt and key Conservation Division personnel are very much interested in this program and, I am sure, will see that it continues to be forceful and effective.

RENEFITS BY INTERCHANGE

That program immediately will benefit from access to the Conservation Division's car pool, air transportation, statewide shortwave communication, business office manpower and machines, and loans of personnel, such as biologists.

Older established programs also must be assured continued identification and emphasis. Conservation programs, or groups of programs, must be given division status.

Organization — Teams from the two divisions, aided by the Department of Administration, are preparing recommendations as to the structure. My hope is that three divisions will result, based on resource programs, with other units — miscellaneous — directly under the secretary.

Three divisions would enable the board to function with three permanent committees, each to work closely (through the secretary, of course) with the administrator of one division.

I believe this would: (1) enable the board to handle the workload and (2) foster full discussion of conflicts of interest.

the small society

nation cannot be stronger than its beliefs. And its beliefs cannot be manufactured to suit a moment, an administration, a policy or a person.

As Macbeth found out, you can kill Banquo but you cannot get rid of his ghost. Tragically, President Johnson is stuck with his own performance when he speaks to memory-minded millions.

Few announcers manage to achieve or maintain this happy medium. Most of them, in reading the news, give the same tone and weight to a train disaster as they do to a weather report. If they are blatant and crudely clumsy, they remain so for both items; if they are lofty and melodious, they remain so for both items.

The sloppy speaker suffers from ignorance and laziness; the too-precise announcer suffers from phobias and vanity. An easy, unobtrusive correctness, modulated to the content, is almost never heard.

Livestock Specialist Claims U.S. Pork Industry Lagging

Danish Hog Producers Have System Americans Should Adapt

BY PAT DUFFEY
Post-Crescent Farm Editor

ARLINGTON — American pork producers better "get with it" before they find themselves with a seriously eroded domestic market, a University of Wisconsin livestock specialist warned at the annual pork-beef day program at the UW experimental farm here this week.

Dr. Robert Grummer recently returned from a 10-month tour of Western Europe's pork industry, with special attention on Denmark and England.

He asked for producer support for a program to be advanced soon by the National Pork Producers Association to improve the American industry.

Progress in the United States is delayed, he said, by genetic standards which vary from state to state. "This creates confusion among swine breeders and weakens the industry."

Finest in World

"The Danish pork industry is the finest in the world," Grummer observed. "And some of its traits can be adapted to the U. S." They have 24 swine improvement testing stations and six major experimental stations. They can answer a lot of problem questions through an extensive applied research program financed by industry and government contributions, he said.

The annual government levy on hogs in Britain total $3 million per year earmarked for three major research organizations. Funds are allocated to projects which will provide fast practical results.

Denmark is strong on the cooperative movement. The industry is divided into six major national committees headed by an industry czar. Thus if research indicates a need to change the feed ratio, for instance, the czar can direct the national alteration.

Pork producers in both countries have strong lobbies because they have the money to support them. Denmark producers pay in 60 cents per hog. The government matches their contribution with $15 million per year.

The pricing structure in Denmark also encourages quality. There is a $6 difference between grades. The top two grades of hogs are earmarked for export to Britain. "This in itself is a valuable teaching tool," Grummer said.

"The British market is very critical. U. S. hog producers claim we are not that fussy but the American housewife is just as critical as her English counterpart," he contended.

The swine enterprise in Denmark features uniform rations, intensive care and careful selection of animals under long-time confinement conditions. Good "housekeepers" are kept but "fighters" are carefully culled.

Mayor Un-Pots City Flower Bed

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The flower bed outside Salt Lake City Hall was going to pot, city officials discovered recently.

A team of rather grim reapers—headed by Mayor J. Brackenzlee — dourly supervised removal of three marijuana plants from amid the city's well-groomed blossom patch and Police Capt. J. L. Smith said the pot would be replanted—in pots—by police lab men "to see how long it will grow."

Largest of the marijuana plants was two feet high.

Smith said the city parks department planted the garden. He theorized someone else tossed the pot in later.

Tonkin Gulf Resolution No One Can Accuse Senate of Consistency

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Irresponsible," the senator said of President Johnson. The President could have replied, with a lot of senators in mind: "Look who's talking." Two things have happened. The war in Vietnam has become unpopular with many people. And a number of senators, who voted Johnson a go-ahead to make war if he thought it necessary, have become his severest critics.

Out of this senatorial unhappiness has come a move led by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., to put more restraint on the President in foreign relations than has ever happened and more than the Constitution calls for.

This all had its roots in the summer of 1964 when, after North Vietnamese torpedo boats attacked U.S. destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin, Congress overwhelmingly approved a resolution. The House vote, 416 to 0; the Senate vote, 88 to 2.

Anything Necessary

The Tonkin resolution approved, beforehand, any action Johnson thought necessary to take to repel attack on the U.S. armed forces or to prevent aggression in South Vietnam.

Fulbright was in charge of steering the resolution through the Senate. He explained it, answered questions, made this statement: The Communists should know their aggressive ambitions "will meet precisely that degree of American opposition which is necessary to frustrate them."

Asked if the resolution would give the President authority to use such force as might lead to war, Fulbright said: "That is the way I would interpret it."

Now Fulbright and others say they didn't realize the full implications of the resolution or that Johnson has abused the authority it gave him.

Last week Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., complained Johnson had misused the Tonkin resolution—which Case voted for—and added: "For the President to take advantage of the restraint and responsibility of Congress in this situation, I think, has been highly irresponsible."

'Wrong Judgment'

"We dealt with it," he said, "in terms of how we thought it would be used by the man who occupied the presidency. Our judgment turned out to be wrong."

"Our consent to so sweeping a grant of power was not only a mistake but a failure of responsibility on the part of Congress."

From the opposite side of the fence Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republicans' Senate leader, defending Johnson, said the same thing.

"How," he asked, "could members of the House and Senate be kidded or deceived with respect to the language that was before us (in the resolution)? It was our business to examine it."

But, he said, he believes Congress knew what it was doing. And if the members of House and Senate didn't know, he said, then the people who sent them to Congress might well wonder about their fitness.

The two war critics who don't have to do any explaining about the resolution are the only two men in House or Senate who voted against it: Sens. Wayne Morse of Oregon and Ernest Gruening of Alaska, both Democrats.

Fulbright Typical

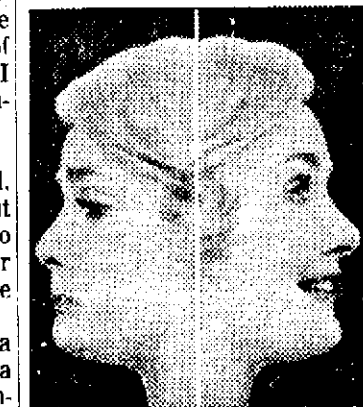

No one more than Fulbright typifies the problem of trying to figure where a senator will stand next. In 1961 he endorsed the use of U.S. armed force in Vietnam, if necessary and requested, to prevent its being overrun by communism.

Now he is perhaps Johnson's most constant critic on the war. In 1954 he opposed, as "a retreat from the world" a proposed constitutional amendment to restrict a president's handling of foreign affairs.

In 1961 he was saying it would be "unwise" to think of the President and the Senate as a "council of elders," deciding upon the fate of the nation.

That same year at least twice he complained the president was too "hobbled" in trying to handle foreign affairs and even indicated he thought the Constitution should be amended to give him more freedom. Now he is proposing a resolution to restrict a president more than ever before.

The Danish Landrace hog — the only breed in their industry — is not wholly acceptable here. It is a better built animal than its American counterpart but no breeding stock leaves the country, he said.

Raising hogs in confinement is just catching on in the U. S., he observed. England, too, for a long time adhered to the single breed (Yorkshire) idea but has started some successful cross breeding, he said.

Germany has made rapid strides toward a uniform breed in anticipation of future British entry on the European Common Market. The Germans are searching for future markets, particularly in the U. S.

Grummer concluded that the European leaders have a more acceptable product and are earning a lot of it. Special planes have been adapted to airlifting fresh meat products to the U. S.

West Students Volunteer to Erase Vandalism

Six Appleton High School-West students gave Appleton police a pleasant surprise Saturday when they added a new twist to the type of complaint usually registered.

Greg Moder, 1125 W. Parkway Ave., called police and notified them that West students had painted a large WEST on the newly erected public address box at East's athletic field.

East had defeated West, 12-7, Saturday afternoon in the first inter-city football game.

He asked permission for him and five of his fellow students to be allowed to paint over the vandals' work. Police directed Moder to call William Spears, superintendent of schools, who in turn had him call Stanley Ore, East principal.

Ore said he is meeting the six students at the field at 4 p.m. today to clean up the mess.

Students other than Moder are Charles Palmer, 1603 W. Spencer St.; Bill Athens, 634 W. Prospect Ave.; Charles Giles, 1903 W. Charles St.; Al Pearlman, 1504 N. Nicholas St., and Henry Meyer, 728 N. Fair St.

Cattle, Goat Sold for Charity

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — More than 350 head of cattle, and one goat which brought a cumulative $1,620, were sold for $17,585.65 recently in the seventh cattlemen's roundup for crippled children.

The Texas stockmen chipped in another $23,000 to bring to $70,585.65 the total of the roundup. The money goes to the non-profit West Texas Rehabilitation Center.

Prize cattle went on the block. But the most surprising sale was a nanny goat.

She was sold and re-sold 31 times. The last buyer, Charles Morris of Abilene, donated the goat to be sold again in an Oct. 12 sale.

Supreme Court Meets With First Negro Justice on Bench

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thurgood Marshall, the first Negro to serve on the Supreme Court, took his seat today as the court convened for a new term, with President Johnson looking on.

Marshall, with his left hand resting on a white leather-covered Bible held by clerk John F. Davis, swore to "administer justice without respect to persons, and do equal right to the poor and to the rich."

A broad smile on his face, he then took his seat to the extreme left of Chief Justice Earl Warren. Justice Byron R. White, who sits next to Marshall, shook hands with the new justice and Justice William J. Brennan Jr. also reached over to extend a smiling welcome.

President Johnson watched the brief but impressive ceremony from a front-row seat. He named Marshall to the court last June to succeed retired Justice Tom C. Clark. Clark and another retired associate justice, Stanley Reed, sat alongside the President.

At 10:03 a.m., Warren convened the 1967 term, "thankfully," he said, "with a full court." The chief justice noted Clark's retirement and said "we still feel the loss of his wisdom and companionship."

However, Warren said, the "felicitous reason" for Clark's retirement—the appointment of his son, Ramsey Clark, as U.S. Attorney General, "compels us to forego the regret which we would otherwise have."

And, "happily," the chief justice went on, Marshall had been appointed to succeed Clark.

The new justice stood by as Davis read Marshall's commission. He then took the judicial oath, one of two administered to new justices. Actually, Marshall has been performing high court duties since taking the constitutional oath, an affirmation to support and defend the Constitution, on Sept. 1 from Justice Hugo L. Black.

Within five minutes the ceremony was over and Johnson left the court.

After the President's departure, the justices moved on to the only other business of the opening session—the admission of lawyers to practice before the court. There will follow a round of private sessions to determine which of hundreds of pending appeals will be heard this term.

ground action reported across South Vietnam. The largest engagement listed by U.S. headquarters was a clash in the central highlands 23 miles south-east of Pleiku City Sunday. Infantrymen of the U.S. Army's 4th Infantry Division reported killing 28 newly equipped North Vietnamese regulars in day-long skirmishes in which the Americans were supported by helicopter gunships, artillery and rapid-firing AC47 Dragonships.

The new enemy equipment suggested that fresh troops were operating in the area. U.S. casualties were one soldier killed and two wounded, headquarters said.

Attack Bridge

Over North Vietnam, Navy fliers from aircraft carriers in the Tonkin Gulf attacked a railroad-highway bridge two miles north of the port city of Cam Pha and about 46 miles northeast of Haiphong Sunday. The raiders apparently did not attack the port at Cam Pha, which was hit for the first time Sept. 11.

Navy fliers also bombed a railroad bridge 20 miles northwest of Haiphong.

Air Force fighter-bombers from Thailand bases struck at the MIG airfield and main railroad yard at Kep 38 miles northeast of Hanoi. Aerial photos taken later showed the runway cratered in numerous places. There was no report of any MIG interceptors on the airfield at the time.

In all, American pilots flew 99 missions Sunday, well below the recent daily average of 140 or more.

two battalions up at the DMZ. Now we have most of a division. By having to meet the threat at the DMZ, we are draining our strength from the key population areas," the officer said.

The results of the Marine vacuum are becoming obvious. The Vietnamese 1st Infantry Division in the two northernmost provinces of Quang Tri and Thua Thien has had to deploy nine of its 12 battalions to protect a handful of pacification teams, leaving few troops for military operations.

Several provincial cities have been attacked and all are in a state of nervousness, particularly after it was learned that an enemy attack on the provincial capital of Tam Ky last month was aimed at holding the city for eight hours, rounding up all U.S. and Vietnamese officials, forcing them to appear at a drumhead court, then executing them as an example to the population.

The Tam Ky attack was beaten off, but it is an indication of how the war is going in the 1st Corps area, that for the first time in 18 months there are fears that the Communists might indeed overrun a provincial capital.

The Marine vacuum is being filled by the deployment of increasing numbers of U.S. Army regiments in the 1st Corps south of the corps headquarters of Da Nang. The three DMZ area at any one time, a total of perhaps 6,000 troops.

Students Raise Indonesia Flag

China's Jakarta Embassy Attacked

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Chinese diplomats, beaten by Indonesian students in a wild attack on their embassy Sunday, returned to the gutted building today and halted down the Indonesian flag the raiders had raised over it. Four embassy staff members remained in a hospital.

Peking issued an immediate protest, but a Jakarta military command spokesman said the attack was understandable because "the students were angry at the treatment of the Chinese Red Guards against our embassy in Peking."

The Communist protest note, delivered to the Indonesian acting charge d'affaires in Peking, called the raid by about 1,000 youths "the gravest provocation against the 700 million Chinese people."

It said the incident "fully laid bare Indonesia's deliberate attempt to thoroughly wreck the relations between the two countries," the official New China News Agency reported.

The raid, which virtually destroyed the interior of the embassy building, came on the second anniversary of the pro-Soviet Communist coup attempt here. Relations between China and Indonesia have steadily deteriorated over the two years, climaxing recently with the expulsion of diplomats from both capitals.

Foreign Office sources predicted more Red Chinese diplomats would be sent home from Jakarta "for the sake of our embassy staff in Peking," suggesting that Indonesia hoped for some kind of reciprocal expulsion order for its own staff in China.

Shot in Chest

No official comment was forthcoming on the condition of the Chinese still hospitalized, but sources said one had been shot in the chest. An Indonesian youth was also reported wounded by gun fire.

A military spokesman said only one platoon of troops was guarding the embassy when the attack came at dawn. He claimed they were helpless against the large numbers of students who arrived in trucks

Nuclear Mines May Help Turk Defenses

McNamara Hints at Supporting Project Along Soviet Border

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara indicated today he may support a Turkish proposal to seed atomic demolition mines along Turkey's frontier with the Soviet Union.

Turkey's Defense Minister Ahmet Popaloglu suggested the plan at the latest NATO nuclear planning meeting in Ankara.

The idea would be to create a sort of atomic barrier along the Turkish-Soviet boundary to deter any Russian invasion of Turkey.

McNamara, returning from the Ankara meeting today, told newsmen:

"Of course, that could not be considered provocative because these atomic demolition charges are placed in the ground—under the ground along the border—and could be used only for defense and not for offensive purposes."

Previously the United States has opposed the use of atomic land-mines, fearing their deployment would create security problems and increase the danger of other nations obtaining atomic weaponry.

McNamara recently justified U.S. plans to build an antimissile defense on grounds that it should not be provocative to Russia.

Asked whether he found much opposition by NATO countries to the planned American missile shield, he replied: "No. I think they quite understood it."

McNamara is reported to have felt the Turks made a strong case for using atomic mines, which could be supplied from the U.S. nuclear arsenal. High yield explosions could seal off mountain passes through which invaders might enter Turkey.

'Substantial Forces'

The Pentagon chief said Russia maintains "very substantial forces" in areas near Turkey and "surely they're not concerned about a potential Turkish invasion of Russia."

Booze Bus Encourages Liverpudlians to Drink and Then Ride

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — The city fathers of Liverpool are thinking about setting up a special bus service for drinkers—to keep them from driving.

Britain's strict new drink-and-drive laws come into effect next week, allowing police to make random "breath checks" with a chemical measuring device.

In Liverpool, pub crawlers would be encouraged to leave their cars at home. Then at closing time the booze bus would stop by to pick them up and deliver them to their homes in and around the city.

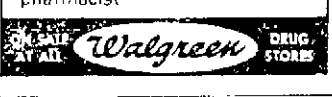

Night Spot Burned Out in Waukesha County

OCONOMOWOC (AP) — Flames destroyed a well-known Waukesha County night spot early Sunday, causing an estimated $200,000 damage.

Charles Chuck, owner of Chuck's Supper Club, which had planned to celebrate its 20th anniversary Sunday, estimated the damage. About 100 firemen from Oconomowoc, Delafield and Nashotah fought the blaze.

Mule Skinner Cited For Reckless Driving

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The elderly driver of a stubborn mule pulling a junk wagon was cited for reckless driving after tangling with a late model car Sunday.

Neither the mule nor the driver, Alfred Burton, 78, was injured.

The wagon was impounded at a wrecking service. The mule was taken to the horse barns at the Indiana State Fair grounds. Burton is to appear later this month on charges of reckless driving and no permit for collecting junk.

Correction Possible After Cause Is Found

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Some types of sinus disease can be present, causing a complete loss of smell. It is almost impossible to cook without a sense of smell. Can anything be done for this, and what caused it? — I.L.L.

Put your questions in the order, because once you know what caused the loss of smell, you have a better chance of correcting it.

It can happen after a cold, when the nasal membrane is inflamed or swollen, but this usually corrects itself as you get over the cold.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please send me a copy of "How to Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed," for which I enclose 20 cents in coin and a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Also, why aren't doctors interested in women using intrauterine devices or plastic coils instead of pills to prevent pregnancy? — Mrs. F.S.

Doctors ARE interested in these devices, called I.U.D.'s, but there's a difference between being interested and being convinced that they are the best method. A considerable proportion of women can't tolerate them. There is also the risk of the device being shifted out of proper position. They sound very simple, but in actual practice it's another story, although there are those who would disagree with me — and have.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can you tell me how successful removal of the parotid gland has been for asthma sufferers? — Mrs. H. G.

I think your pen slipped, and you meant the carotid body, not the parotid gland. (The parotid is one of the salivary glands located forward of the ears.)

Removal of the carotid body (called glomectomy) in the neck has been tried with the goal of helping patients with asthma or emphysema. It has not been successful, according to reports I have read. True, there are proponents of this operation, but they are in the minority.

Dr. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: I have so much trouble with heartburn and it seems to be getting worse. I eat small meals and never eat between meals, but it does not seem to help. I am wondering whether I do not have enough hydrochloric acid. I have heard that pure cider vinegar would correct that condition. At my meals I do not combine pure fats with high starches or sweets, or acids and carbohydrates with high starches or sweets. Do not combine high proteins with them, either. Nothing seems to help. I hope you can help me. — J. C.

No, vinegar will NOT replace hydrochloric acid. I have one sound suggestion for you: Go to your doctor and let him figure out what is causing the heartburn. It might be lack of hydrochloric acid, and if it is, he can easily compensate for that. Ulcer, hiatal hernia, gall bladder disease, diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Post-Crescent for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Florence Henderson Delights Opening Night Audience at AHS-W

BY JAMES AUER
Post-Crescent Sunday Editor

What can be said about Florence Henderson that hasn't already been said?

She's bright, she's gay, she's versatile: she can be brassy and sassy and simple and sensitive. She's five-foot-four inches of talent and show-business acumen, and when she steps upon a stage, the audience knows instinctively that it's in good hands.

So it was Sunday evening at the Appleton High School-West auditorium, as a variety bill headed by the close-cropped and glitteringly garbed Miss Henderson opened the eighth consecutive season of Variety Theatre presentations, co-sponsored by the Appleton Gallery of Arts.

Music and Dancing

As befits the star turn, the headliner was preceded by an hour or so of music by the Peter Palmer orchestra; dancing by the frenetic team of Hart and Carroll, and comedy by low-key monologist Don Rice.

Comic Rice, whose material and delivery proved to be divertingly off-beat, angled his opening remarks toward his audience ("Appleton will open the streets while they repair the detours"), then took off on such familiar subjects as airline travel, his home town, women drivers and his wife's girly.

It was clean, well-organized fun, nicely suited to a family-type audience.

But Florence Henderson was the star they had come to see, and it was Florence Henderson who gave them full measure for their Variety Theatre ticket.

Coming on, full-lunged, in the Broadway manner, she belted out "This Is The Life," then swung, almost without taking a breath, into a well-paced presentation that included "Whom Can I Turn To?" (dedicated to LBJ); a couple of Petula Clark favorites, including "Down Town"; "Falling in Love" (done in the Garland manner, with flailing hands and dramatic business with the mike); a medley from "The Sound of Music"; "This Nearly Was Mine" from South Pacific, and "The Impossible Dream", from "Man of La Mancha."

A singing-actress of enormous range and technical virtuosity, Miss Henderson interspersed folksy comments among the songs ("I have four children—one of each"), and won strong audience identification with the revelation that she's a Mid-Westerner (from Dale, Ind.), and that she telephones her mother before each of her television appearances (Mama had a bowling date, and couldn't watch Florence on a recent Sullivan show).

The star received capable backing from drummer Bobby Pike and her personal conductor, Joe Meeley, leading the Don Jeris band.

All in all, an unpretentious and enjoyable evening, and an auspicious beginning for a season that will include "The Impossible Years", John Gary and George Gobel.

Angels, Tigers Not Televised; Viewers Irate

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Broadcasting Company received more than 400 calls from baseball fans Sunday protesting the network's failure to show the American League pennant-deciding game between the California Angels and the Detroit Tigers.

Ernie Otto, a spokesman for NBC, said after the game in which the Boston Red Sox defeated the Minnesota Twins, the network switched to broadcasting an American Football League game with which there was a contractual commitment.

"We had a contractual commitment with the AFL to carry at least one Sunday game," Otto said. "Today we carried the Boston-Minnesota game until the very end and then switched to Oakland for the Oakland Raiders and the Kansas City Chiefs."

NBC telephone operators said that their switchboards "lit up" when viewers realized they were not going to see the second Detroit-Los Angeles game. If Detroit had won the second game, they would have tied Boston for the AL pennant.

Big Valley One of Best Of Series

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 (Channels 11-6-9) — Richard Long's performance on The Big Valley is Emmy caliber making this episode one of the best of the series. The star, who is always so polished that he's often taken for granted, plays the role of a blind man, the aftermath of an explosion meant to halt a criminal court case. Rather than give it up or hand it over to a replacement, Jarrod agonizingly stumbles about the court in the dead of night memorizing every chair and foot of space and learning to react in the dark to the unseen reactions of witnesses, judge and jury. (C)

6:30-7:30 (Channels 11-6-9) — Although there is some intended humor in Cowboy in Africa, and also a touch of romance, the underlying theme is the close ties in the elephant family life, and many of their tragedies, too. (C)

6:30-7:30 (Channels 2-7-12) — John Ireland guests on Gunsmoke and the heavyweight gets some hefty competition from young James Stacy as the man he wrongs. In a very strong opening, Ireland, as a rich

7-8 (Channels 4-5) — "The Prince of Darkness Affair" on The Man From U.N.C.L.E. is a must for all super-spy fans. Already slated for feature film release in Europe, this first of a two-parter is loaded with all the devices and designs that have made this category so popular. (C)

7:30-8 (Channels 2-7-12) — Lucille Ball's first of two appearances tonight on her own The Lucy Show includes a guest spot by singer Frankie Avalon who plays a bank clerk. Actually he wants a singing career and Lucy decides to take him under her wing. (C)

7:30-8 (Channels 11-6-9) — There's a new star on Rat Patrol. It is an authentic World War II German tank which the producers secured at no small expense and will keep in the series as a semi-regular. There is also a familiar setting, a desert. Fort which you have seen in many "desert" and Kipling type movies. The plot is the tank

8-9 (Channels 4-5) — Danny Thomas offers another "book musical" titled "It's Greek to Me" on The Danny Thomas Hour. It is abundantly endowed with Juliet Prowse, who is likewise, and shows it to high advantage. Unlike many another beautiful statue, Miss Prowse displays her singing, dancing and acting talents as a Grecian goddess who "kidnaps" a modern-day mortal, Danny. (C)

9-10 (Channels 2-7-12) — Lucille Ball's second appearance tonight comes as guest star on The Carol Burnett Show. One of the highlights, despite being just a teaser, is Carol's reluctant introduction of Lucy to Lyle Waggoner. (C)
